This is a Letter of Elisabeth Coixet. director Catalan film has all the truth to the world. all my friends international: "this weekend I realized that some of my friends international are confused so is happening in Spain with Catalonia. I hope this helps: - Spain is a Western democracy and its citizens Catalan vote often. in fact, among European elections, National, regional and municipal voted 6 times in the last five years. - in the past regional elections, parties pro-secession decided join around a single item -independencia- and not just could not get the most votes, but also lost votes in relation to the elections above. surveys, even paid by separatists, show that support for independence is a minority and declining. - Catalonia is not" oppressed ". is one of the regions more prosperous Spain and its citizens enjoy a high standard of living and one of the highest degree of self-government of any European region. - the game traditionally he led the regional government of Catalonia used for the past 30 years public money to promote a agenda separatist through education and local media and has been funded illegally with a scheme corrupt in which the contractors had to pay bribes at least 3% of any public works. - La region of Catalonia has never existed as a political entity independent and was part of the Kingdom of Aragon, which merged dynastically with the Kingdom of Castile in 1492 to create the Spain that we know today. there is no "Union", as in the UK. Catalonia is Spain what Roussillon is to France or Cornwall to England. - Spain is parliamentary democracy, with a Constitution that can be amended. voting on the secession territorial requires such amendment and supported by a qualified majority of Spanish. - any country or international organization (with the exception of Nicholas Maduro in Venezuela) supported this movement. then why uproar? as the economy improves and support for independence decreases, separatists fear "missing the train" and breaking with the Spanish laws and regional, have been embarked on a campaign to present the Central government as "evil" "not allow a referendum regional not meet the Constitution (widely adopted in Spain, including Catalonia). this noise also hides regional corruption and establishes separatists as victims of the next general elections.
