

MESSAGE FROM THE GUIDE COLLECTIVE - A HEAVENLY CHALLENGE

LIGHT WORKERS

"Welcome my dear beloved brothers and sisters. Listen carefully and receive the following message with love. This message came to me at exactly 5:55 a.m. At dawn. I call this my first channeling of the day, because that is exactly what it is, my first channeling, therefore I will now pass the microphone to those who wish to address you today. Enjoy. " Greetings dear humans, we are the collective of guides, a collective that includes all the spiritual guides of humanity. Your superior beings, the respective advice of souls, the families of souls and many other beings of light, too numerous to mention here, and today we have a message for all of you or, rather, a challenge if you wish. After observing you over the years, we have discovered one thing. All of you love a good challenge, a great challenge, a quality challenge, a great bet, so to speak and so given that, we in the sky, have decided to launch a challenge and bet, unique in its kind. Among all of us, we can call it the heavenly challenge, if you want, because that is exactly. It is a heavenly challenge like no other, unlike most other challenges, the reward for winning this will depend on you as well as the honors, in addition to the innumerable spiritual gifts that come with such victory. There will be no losers here and we can guarantee that. Then and without further ado we will explain all the stipulations of this challenge. For the next seven days we ask all who read 2 this, to send nothing but love, and that is all. This means that any challenge that arises in your world during the next 7 days will respond with love and only with love: 1.-If you have a physical challenge 2.-If you have a mental challenge 3.-If you have an emotional challenge 4.-Each obstacle you encounter 5.-Disturbing person 6.-Any difficult situation 7.-Disruptive anxiety or stress 8.-Physical disordering, illness or pain 9.-Concerned by a member of your family Obstacle or a challenge in life 11.- Disturbing news 12.- Disturbing politician or celebrity 13.- Disturbing event in your life 14.- Disturbing event about individuals or groups of people 15.- Absolutely something or someone that makes you react with anger, pain, fear, hate, worry, any other feeling or negative emotion. In all these situations we recommend: -Take a break; relax; And- Send all the love you can through this challenge, quite heavenly, we the guides of humanity, we want to alter and reconfigure so many consciences on your planet in the shortest possible time. The more participate in this great re-flavored, in this gigantic rewriting of human consciousness or template, the greater the rewards not only for you individually, but also for the collective as a whole. The first reward, both for you and individuals, and for all of you as a collective is the rapid cessation of many personal, social, political, economic, sociological, practical, environmental challenges and many other global challenges in an extremely short period of time. The second reward is a very soft, beautiful, easy cheerful, happy, peaceful, harmonious and prosperous time transition towards your personal and collective ascents. The third and last reward and, we will not even mention the innumerable other additional rewards, is that all those who participate in this exercise will finally have within their reach a truly reliable and powerfully useful tool to solve all the problems in your life in a short time. You will see what we mean, when you start doing it. Through this challenge it is desirable to draw your attention to four key tools for advancement and planetary ascension. Of course most of those who read this already know everything, but a small review here will not harm anyone. 3 The first tool is the unconditional love you can send to what worries you. This love being the same energy that you call God. Literally cure and dissolve all the problems in your life in its same origin. The second tool is the unconditional acceptance of what it is, because you see, you are all creative beings. Which means that until the last thing or experience you see in your world and your reality, whether you like it or not, was created by yourself at some point. Then, when you fight or resist something, you are not offering love and acceptance to your own creation and in turn you are fighting yourself and it is a war that you simply cannot win. You know this too well and so, when you stop fighting in this war once and for all accepting and loving your own creations unconditionally, you will return once again to the complete and absolute harmony with the source and then, it is the source or God who does all the resolution work for you. It's as simple as that. The third tool is the unconditional forgiveness of what it is, because if you cannot even forgive your own world, your own creation, as it is unconditionally. How could you get to accept it truly and totally? Remember that hate the anger or fear that you house towards your own creations, including anything you are currently experiencing individually or collectively, ends up receiving within your own energy field or aura and thus, in the simplest terms, it is a living magnet that breathes for all the terrifying and traumatic odious things that reside in your own body nothing less, so forgive it and also forgive anything that inspires you, fear, or anger. The fourth tool is unconditional gratitude to what it is, why gratitude? Let us ask ourselves, aren't you grateful to those who have taught you something useful?; to your music teacher for teaching you to create joy through a simple vibratory instrument; to your language teacher for helping you weave delicious magic with words; To your geography teacher for helping you see beauty and divinity even in simple sedimentary rocks, nothing less. So why not show the same kindness, love, courtesy and gratitude or more to all those people, situations, objects and events in their outside world that have dared to support the extremely difficult, heartbreaking and negative role of bad people, just to teach you to love? Imagine how much love someone must have had towards you, to accept being negative towards you or other people like you, the parts of your own divine being and conscience. Nothing less in a certain life. Doesn't that automatically win the biggest thanks? Doesn't that make us really worthy of his greatest appreciation of love and gratitude? Because all those bad guys in your life are really your best teachers. After all, teachers who are here only to very generously teach you the most coveted lessons of love, that even beings of other dimensions, densities and universes, yearn, but do not always get in the form of coveted life on earth, so, please and for your own good, learn to offer to all who fear or hate, your maximum gratitude and continue, until it becomes a habit, a natural extension of yourself. You will not regret it, we guarantee it. One last thing, before concluding. Being unconditionally loving, accepting or forgiving does not mean in any way not having healthy limits respect for oneself or not defending yourself when necessary in the proper way and as necessary, as is the divine right of all beings in nature. Be careful and good judgment in this regard and do what you need to do within the limitations you may face at any given time. We wish him all the best and also his greatest reward for completing this challenge. It's something that almost all of you have literally embodied here. The ability to master the art of sending unconditional love and gratitude, absolutely anything and everything and everyone, while in human form nothing less. All this in the reality of extremely polarized duality of the physical world here on Earth. Few of the precious beings have reached this level of domain of polarized physical density. So why not be the few in mastering this aspect of life at this time and enjoying the innumerable spiritual rewards and honors that it entails? Not for awards and honors necessarily, but because you, as your soul want to master this aspect and facet of soul growth anyway. So why wait to eventually reincarnate in another part of the reality that educates? When can you master this power and this immensely beautiful gift so simply here and now? The ball is completely on your court here. Finally, even though this challenge only lasts seven days, which is enough for the ball to start rolling. We encourage them all, that is, all who take this challenge to continue for at least 21 days. In fact it takes 21 days, to form a powerful habit in all of you and that habit will transform your life for the better. We can say it without a doubt, but we already know that most of you, who will accept this sincere challenge and seriously will not want to stop after the seven-day period. Why? Because the immense and infinite power of transmutation of love that tends to create a certain dependence. That is why we wish you the best for this challenge with love. Your collective guide, always in love. That is, friends. Be sure to share this message where you can, so that as many humans as possible can participate and help transform our world quickly. Share it freely and to the maximum, through its social networks, conversations, all its groups and communities, online and offline. Your translations and audio recordings, your blogs, podcasts, videos and more. Also feel free to share it through your telepathic and astral actions, sleep time, which you can share simply by establishing an intention to share this message with all humanity, just before going to sleep. Have fun then who is ready for a small challenge with infinite love and gratitude? You are blessed we send you a very strong and tight hug to each of you we are the workers of the light
