

WHAT HAS HAPPENED, UPDATE SIRIAN Message The Glory of the I Am

Dear brothers and sisters of the earth. Now is the time to sit and reflect on everything that has been happening in your own life in the last months of this supposed pandemic. Many of you, as spiritual warriors, have been fighting the tyranny that has been happening and now is the time for everyone to step back and reflect on everything they have achieved in their own personal life by doing so. We hear his cries of tiredness and frustration, for wanting the battle to end. Many of you may be thinking that nothing has changed and it may seem to you that most of the people around you are still sleeping, so to speak. We are here to tell you that although many friends and family around you still think differently from you, everything is fine. The time has come to reflect on what they have been feeling and try to understand them and not fight against them anymore. Do not believe that if the people around you do not think like you, they are the enemy. The true enemy is fear. Now is the time to show those around you only love, not anger. Now is the time to stop the discussions and show only love. Listen to your worries, fears and sorrows, but don't compromise. Reflect love through your eyes, agree to disagree, end the discussions and simply stay away if necessary. Perhaps there are some who are very angry with you for your refusal to comply with the restrictions, ignore these people, because they are afraid and cannot understand your love for freedom. Do not argue with these people because they will reduce your vibration. They will wake up on time. Loving the enemy is the true path of the spiritual warrior in action. It is a difficult road to take. As they continue to focus on love, they will be more than capable of assuming the new vibrations that are being transmitted to Earth at this time. Imagine these new vibrations as pure love and you will begin to see many changes in those around you. All of you have gone through your own personal trip of Ascension Updates and have gone through many challenges, but now is the time to sit and enjoy the show, so to speak. Everything is an illusion and many of you are seeing through the illusion that others have control of their own destiny. Now is the time to reflect on your life and realize that when you reach this crucial point in your own life, you have manifested everything for the journey of your own soul, in order to ascend to the fifth dimension of love, peace and harmony on earth, now. You are an amazing soul that came to help Gaia and its inhabitants ascend to the fifth dimension, at this time. Many were called but few chosen and you are one of the strong elected. Believe it and continue on the journey of your own soul, whether or not others are with you. You may feel very alone but, dear, you are never alone. We are constantly with you and we are here to support you. Call us, both day and night and we will help you complete the mission you came to accomplish. The battle is over dear, everything is fine, although what you are seeing seems otherwise. When you feel depressed, call us and we will be with you in an instant, to lighten your vibration. Stay away from those who obscure your light and participate with those who help them shine their light. There are no accidents. You are where you are for a reason. You may be the only one who illuminates the light around you, but never give up because the light always conquers the darkness. If you are the only one who illuminates the light around you, it only means that you are the strong one that shows them the way. Do not be afraid of anything that those in your so-called power are throwing at you. Those on the dark side are only trying to use their last vestiges of control, while they see their own future fall apart. We have told you many times that you can neutralize any dark force that is trying to seize you in some way. There has been much talk about the use of the dark side of food, water, weather patterns, chemicals, the so-called viruses and now solutions are injected into you to damage them and hide your light. Dear ones, we are here to tell you once more, that you are not afraid of anything. That these supposed dark forces try to throw their power at them no longer exists. You are the strong, now, and you can neutralize anything you come into contact with and turn it into light. You can reflect that light to illuminate in the dark, and in doing so will change the world. Be the bright light and reflect that light to all you know. Do not be afraid and will conquer it. You are all the powerful. You are the light. We are Sirians and we are with you. We always applaud them. To all and we send a lot of love, light and blessings
