

The 9 Letters of Christ. Letter IV

Greetings. I, the Christ, have come in my love for you, to summarize all that I perceived during my enlightenment in the desert and attempted to teach the Jews in Palestine 2000 years ago. Some details of my life have been narrated in letters one, two and three. If you have already read them, you will know that it is of the utmost importance for your well-being to understand that, although my followers ultimately created a religion they called Christianity, founded on narratives of my life and teachings, I am not dictating these letters to teach and confirm. what my followers taught.

Christianity is a formal religion that purely for reasons of convenience acquired many beliefs contrary to the spiritual truth of our Source of being: What does bloodshed have to do with the universal spirit? As you must already understand, my teaching from the beginning of my mission in the land of Palestine was always born from the truth of the highest spiritual existence, having nothing to do with human concepts and rationalizations taught by the human mind. Therefore I emphatically reiterate, that while my person on Earth 2000 years ago was that of Jesus, the purpose of my presence, the Christ presence within these letters, is to reach sensitive and inspired souls to teach them how to resort to divine help during the future terror in which the world will finally be plunged.

For that reason, my powerful desire to rescue those who can receive me has crystallized in the form of the truth of existence within these letters. Pay attention to this: I want you to know and take note that I went to the Jews in Palestine 70 years before Jerusalem was devastated. I went to the Jews to warn them that the code of conduct would be of no value when the hard times of the future came upon them and sent them into a hostile world. It is recorded in a gospel that I cried in despair, lamenting the fact that I had gathered the people, as a broody hen gathers her chicks under her breast to protect them in the hour of their destruction, but the people did not heed me. Instead, their religious leaders killed me and after the dispersion of the Jews, when the temple was taken away from them, they learned from their experience.

They asked themselves why such a catastrophe had caught them off guard? No. They continued in their old traditions and belief in their superiority, although historical events repeatedly showed them that they were subject to disasters just like everyone else. At this very moment, you have chosen to ignore the truths of existence as I taught you in Palestine and are seeking the same conditions that existed during my earthly life in Palestine, wherever you reside. Their materialistic values, their traditions of "an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth," are drawing upon them the human grief they have created for others through the ages, by their arrogance and greed. Everything they have suffered they have brought on themselves. This also applies to those who, out of convenience, have allied themselves with the Jews because of their financial power within the global financial spheres, who are the ones who keep the vast majority of the world's population hungry, when there is plenty of food in storage to feed people enough. If profits were abandoned as a reason for existence.

If there was the will, financial leaders could formulate and undertake plans to distribute surplus goods to the disadvantaged. If you did, you would find the entire universe responding to you with blessings. The world economy would flourish and peace would become a global condition. Before this can happen, whatever has been created in consciousness by aggressive and degraded acts throughout the world must first materialize in human experience, not as punishment but as a natural result of the laws of existence. Be sure that countries that defend themselves against the evil of others are simply suffering the consequences of their own seeds of conscience and actions of previous years. Therefore intimidation tactics, the ferocious attack of the powerful on the weak, no matter how intransigent they appear to be, can only bring worse times of trouble. For tyrants, where they experienced a pinch, they are storing up in consciousness the future devastation they are now unleashing on others. Perhaps they should consider the sting of the weak as a wake-up call of their own downward slide into moral decay. Since such people are constantly violating the laws of existence, they are bringing destruction on an unparalleled magnitude upon the cities and upon the Earth.

My intention in this letter is not only to summarize everything I taught and experienced in Palestine, but to explain very clearly the underlying causes of the approaching world crisis, which I did not cover the last time I came to speak to humanity. . These letters have been written before the most crucial time in our history and now that the problem is here, you will ask yourself: Why didn't I warn you before? But I have to tell you, I have been trying to alert the world through receptive minds for 25 years, but neither the media, nor any publisher, nor television have been willing to give me the opportunity to speak to you through my agents.

The politicians could get this far, but I the Christ could not, because of the hardness of hearts and the refusal to grant that I, the living Christ, could return at this moment through the deprogrammed minds dedicated to warning the nations what they were creating for themselves in the future. The churches, which claim to believe in my existence, have been as engrossed in their own humanly conceived religious traditions as the materialists.

Now, in the eleventh hour, when fear has descended upon the masses and they are willing to heed my words, the doors must open without reservation or again my efforts for humanity will have been in vain. I have come to say that there will truly be a separation of the goats and the sheep, as the gospels of the Bible narrate. The sheep refer to those souls who can peacefully receive the highest spiritual truth ever attributed on Earth. Goats refer to those who do not have the ability to listen to anyone or anything, because they have too strong the rebellious impulse of the ego and spirit. Because they will be separated in this time, they will be separated because, those who are capable of receiving the truth that these pages contain and of living according to these normative lines of the laws of existence, will see that although the next period of world history will be bitter of Truly, they will continue in relative peace and protection in the satisfaction of need and the elevation of spirit.

Goats, unfortunately, will have to endure all the horrendous force of their innate rebellious conscience. It is not a punishment from someone from Above, but the natural operation of the law of existence. What is carried in the mind and heart will finally be externalized in the body, in life and in the environment. When you resist and reveal, life offers you resistance in the fulfillment of your desires. I have long since ascended to the highest vibratory frequencies of consciousness in the celestial realms and I am Divine Consciousness itself, individualized. My consciousness can envelop the terrestrial globe to respond to whoever calls me. So it is with all the Great Teachers who have lived on Earth, who became enlightened and perceived the reality of the Source of all being and who have taught people from their exalted level of enlightenment. They were elevated in spiritual power to penetrate the dense veil of human consciousness and perceive what really lies beyond the world of matter. They saw so clearly how the previous mental condition allowed for the basic unity of creation within the realm of creativity itself. All, after transitioning to the next dimension of existence, escaped the wheel of reincarnation and advanced within higher and higher realms of pure individual spiritual consciousness to the portals of universal consciousness itself. They have become individualized divine consciousness, possessing the power and inner vision of divine consciousness. They also participate in Christ consciousness, as I said in a previous letter. They combine the heights of intelligent love with the heights of loving intelligence, combining the power of will with the power of purpose. They are equally masculine and feminine in their dynamism. They are the perfect demonstration of strength and nutrition. They are the perfect example of what all men and women should strive to achieve. To achieve such perfection of being, the human spirit must put aside all division and rivalry. Whoever is your chosen prophet you can be sure that he is life itself and powerful within the brotherhood of all the Great Ones.

These, each Prophet, each Teacher, have perceived the same reality and have lived in such a devout manner to ensure that in the end they would achieve the goal of every man, perfection in paradise. It is vitally important that you understand this and realize that the divisions you make between the Masters are totally wrong, because we are all united in a common Source of being. We are the Brotherhood of beings of Life, each manifesting through our individuality the highest truth of our Source of being. We are equal in purity, power, beauty, greatness of spirit and love. Therefore the sheep of all religious beliefs, those who have sufficiently evolved in the spiritual understanding of the fundamental unity of their Source of being, must quickly seek to unite in equality and brotherhood in their cities and countries and reach out and connect with each other. his spiritual brothers around the world, without taking into consideration everything that happens in the external world.

One must transcend all Christian, Muslim, Sufi, Jewish, Israelite, Hindu, Buddhist, etc. religious differences and see themselves all being equally within the safe heaven of universal love and universal intelligent protection, at peace with themselves, with each other and with each other. those who are determined to fight until the end. Only in this way will your planet survive the confusion that awaits you. I have also returned for all those who are neither Muslims, nor Christians, nor Buddhists and Hindus. I have come for those who wish rather to long to know the reality that is behind all the existence that I have said lives in the person of Jesus.

To the Jews of Palestine I could well have told that I came to the Arabs in the person of Muhammad, since Muhammad and I are one spirit. Dividing us into people with different names Jesus and Muhammad, Muhammad and Jesus is the same as giving twins different surnames, because one teaches literature and the other teaches mathematics. We are both of the Christ consciousness. We are both individualizations of Divine Consciousness. When we were on Earth, we both spoke of a God of love and mercy according to the way in which our humanity allowed us to perceive. Our knowledge, inspired by God, must consider that we were both human beings deeply conditioned by our traditional beliefs inherited through the centuries. Therefore our inspiration came to us through minds already possessed by other ideas. As I have already told you, inspiration, if it is not directed to a clean and deprogrammed mind, will always assume the connotations derived from the conditioning of early childhood.

The rational mind that assumes control, when the influx of inspiration ceases, begins to explain the new knowledge and the new vision under the terms of what is already accepted by the human mind, but as I have already told you, I was a rebel almost from the beginning, beginning of my life and I couldn't accept Jewish beliefs.

I was a clean, eagerly receptive, open-minded vessel into which the truth of desert existence could be poured, allowing me to see universal consciousness clearly. Now our perceptions are of the highest order. We are of one mind, one life, one love, reaching out equally to the Muslim, the Jew, the Christian, the Buddhist and all people, atheists or agnostics. Our only motive in calling you is to bring you the inspired vision that would change your heart, that would enable you to recognize your underlying essence in the brotherhood of the spirit. Encourage thinking new thoughts; to relate to each other peacefully, with forgiveness in their hearts and from then on, encourage them to live their lives differently by drawing light from their Source of being. We would both talk about Universal Consciousness to you, who are living in this current scientific era, because you have come far in scientific understanding and you can now receive what we both want to say. Together we say with one voice: pay attention, listen!: We and you on Earth are all one at the very roots of our being. Any destruction you cause to others you are also inflicting on yourself. I, We must make it clear that We have come to all people of common sense, good will and good heart, without regard to their present race or religious beliefs. We embrace you, we love you, we draw you into the mantle and our consciousness of protection and security. We are aware of your problems on Earth at this time. We are aware of the centuries-old conflict between Judaism and Islam, but this rift has nothing to do with us. Our lines leave us impassive, because risking your own good, your own future happiness by fighting over some meaningless and therefore worthless concept. You actually adhere to your chosen religion because deep in your hearts you are all reaching out to the Source of your being, even if you call your source of being by different names. We are both aware of the struggles of some Jewish individuals to live with dignity and of Islamic individuals who truly worship Allah throughout the day, attributing everything they do and achieve to His power working on their behalf and of Christians immersed in their beliefs. of salvation, through the blood of Jesus.

You are all striving to be good, but you will never achieve it as long as your beliefs divide you. Once the whirlwind of the current world consciousness of mutual aggression has been fully exhausted, the day will surely come when Muslims, Jews, Christians, Buddhists and Hindus will come together, rejecting the differences of their religious beliefs and intermingling as one. people to give thanks to the Divine Consciousness, from which they have taken their being and from which will come all the future limitless blessings of beautiful and inspired lives. By caring for each other, all together they will rebuild on old foundations and say that such a thing will never happen again among people, since we already know that at the root of our existence, we are truly One. When I make you suffer, I I also come less in the divine life and my own suffering will come one after another if the brotherhood within the Christ consciousness. We are also fully aware of the Buddhists and Hindus, the Followers of the Tao, the spiritual adepts of the Philippines and all other religious sects and disciplines in each country, who aim to reach and touch, even if only momentarily, the balance of the Universal Source of being. We are aware of everyone. You are all wrapped up in our universal love, compassion and care. You are all important to us, whatever your belief, since you are all One at the root of your being. Their souls are unified in Divine Consciousness. One and all of you are united and one at the soul level within your source of being. If you collect a drop of rain in the palm of your hand, you can say that, because the droplet of rain fell on your hand and because it has separated from the rain that is falling to the ground, that the droplet is different in chemical composition and quality of purity or strength of the rest of the rain that is falling around you?. You could touch your droplet with green dye and make it green, but can you say that the green droplet is totally different from the rest of the rain that falls? At this very moment, you, who are sensible, of good will and good heart, sincere and true, will be able to answer: "No, the rain is no different. It is exactly the same in quality and in being like the rest of the rain. The only difference is that green, red or blue dye has been added, therefore it has become something more than the rain that is falling around us, but the droplet of rain that is on my hand is basically the same as the rain ". Whoever you are, whatever the color of your skin, the type of hair that adorns your head and protects it from the sun, the shape of your head or body, the language you speak, the thoughts you think, the type of words. Whatever you use, whatever acts and deeds you do as a result of your beliefs and your thoughts, no matter what your physical and human consciousness differences are, you are the same as each other, of the same quality, begotten from the same Source of be.

Having the same potential in infinity, the same spiritual capacities in infinity in all aspects, the only difference between each of you, whether Muslim, Arab, Jew, Russian, Christian, American, Buddhist, Tibetan, Indian, Hindu are the additives that have been injected into each of you as a result of genetics derived from your parentage and race, environment, family upbringing, family resources, poor or abundant, education and life opportunities, but all of these are superficial. They are additives that mask your reality, which you call your soul, just as dye masks the truth regarding the drop of water on the palm of your hand. Your soul comes directly from the Divine Consciousness and remains itself pristine and pure and united to the Divine Consciousness with all other souls, despite all the additives that have covered and corroded it since birth.

You also have to realize that everyone is born with different human capacities to take advantage of the additives that are injected into them at birth. The human capacities that are to be used by each soul depend on the spiritual progress that was achieved in previous lives. Some people manage to dig themselves out of deep holes of disadvantage, depression, or hopelessness and reach high positions of trust and respect, exerting much influence over others. Others fall from dizzying heights full of advantages, wealth, opportunities and talents, black holes of despair and depression, drugs, murder, rape and whatever, yet despite everything you have done, or not done, of your opportunities or lack thereof, you remain fundamentally and fundamentally of the same being and potential as everyone else. You can all ascend little by little from whatever spiritual level of consciousness you currently occupy, to the heights of Divine Consciousness within the celestial realms. As you accept these cards as the truth of existence and seek daily to live, according to the principles with which they will put you in contact and in harmony with the One who gave you being, you will advance with complete security and achieve the most spiritual goals. Highs that you have set for yourself at this current moment.

You can all ascend to the point where you will fully accept the truth. You will work to purify your personal consciousness in order to assimilate consciousness and become filled individuals and radiate the power of divine consciousness in your immediate environment and ultimately throughout the world. You are all important within your immediate environment. To the father or mother who feels that everything they do for the family is not appreciated; who feels that he or she does not make a dent in family life; that you never listen to him; that is not respected; loved; who feels that outside the home or in the workplace, he or she is unimportant and would not be missed, he or she lacks inner vision.

Every person, whether male, female, father, mother, friend, worker, businessman, creates an impact on their environment. If he left, there would be a hole in the fabric of the environment. There would be a loss and it would take time for the space to be filled, with the arrival of another and with the new activities of those who will be left behind. A void remains behind the voice and power of the greatest; the doer of good or the least important worker who sweeps the ground, the paths, the garden. Each one occupies a special place in the entire environment. Each one brings their own talent; your own personality; their own way of doing things; your own impact on the people you talk to; in the place where you live and work; They are vital in their own niche. No one can steal a person's importance, except the person himself who denies his own value. Even if a person is born disabled, he/she also has his/her unique place of importance in the family and environment. Sometimes he occupies a position of greater importance than if he had been born whole and perfect. Their achievements arouse admiration and respect. The impact it has on the environment depends entirely on your will to be; of your will to act; of your willingness to radiate good will; of your willingness to make the most of your opportunities; of your willingness to be special to people by making others feel better than before they contacted you. Each condition arises from the will that is exercised at all times.

Some are born with great willpower; others with less, but the moment a person fully realizes that all willpower is taken from the Universal Consciousness and that willpower can be increased by calling on the Source of being within oneself to It is increased, so the person begins to realize that after all willpower has no limits at all. It can be drawn according to the magnitude and strength of one's faith. From the same Universal Consciousness, everyone in their gender, race, nation, religion, level of resources and income, from the poor to the king, is equally important in the moment of now; from the moment of the end of the day True differences arise only from what each person gives of themselves in this moment, the next moment and the rest of the day. A king or prime minister may be remembered for his kindness or for the benefits he brought to his country or for the misery he imposed on his people. Likewise, a man born in an impoverished family, who may not have developed his abilities to a high level, but who has given his all in the service of his environment, will in the end be revered by his relatives and friends and in the next life will reap his sowing. , just like the king or the prime minister, such a person will have brought life to his environment, because the nature of the life force is unconditional love and service, work and harmony, giving whatever is necessary for the satisfaction of needs. needs of the other. If every day your vital force is used simply to give a cup of tea to the sick, then let this vital force be used in its highest form with the great willingness to go to the patient with a warm smile and deliver the tea. with kindness and goodwill and desiring the healing of the person, in such a way a tea giver can become a radiant instrument of healing and upliftment. The more frequently the beverage dispenser silently gives the influx of Divine Consciousness into his own consciousness, the greater and more penetrating will be the irradiation of his life force to the patient. The sick person may not be aware of what is happening, but a room of sick people who are attended to by such a delivery person or caretaker will recover their health more quickly than those who receive tea or juice, which is handed to them without looking at them, without a word. , without a kind thought. Each work, each moment can be sacred and beautiful or radiant, with the influence of the vital force of the Divine Consciousness that elevates and heals oneself and others.

If one takes the time to realize that he or she is a channel of Divine Consciousness which is all healing, all protection, all meeting the needs of each person. A person who cleans floors and empties buckets, possessing this knowledge, can enter a room and become the most important, perhaps the only distributor of good among six people who are distributing buckets. Such a person can leave behind a legacy of increased strength in each patient. Each person who realizes that a powerful vital force radiates from their eyes towards those at whom they look, you can know that their gaze, that penetrating gaze or that contemplation, benefits the recipient. For everything that we, you and I, the Christ, think and do, is an act of conscience and conscience is the Life Force.

With the activity of our minds, yours and mine, we shape our consciousness, our Life Force in different ways that bless or curse the environment. The only difference between you, Muhammad, and I, known on Earth as Jesus, is the kind of thoughts and feelings that Muhammad and I radiate to others. We both radiate energy of consciousness that gives life to the world. What about your days? You in your world remember again how in a moment of great distress during my time in Palestine I cursed the fig tree and it withered to the roots, soon after I too was categorically cursed by both the Roman soldiers and by the Jewish priests. I too was withered to the roots before dying on the cross. Be careful what you do to others and be sure that you would like to receive the same! A cup of water given to someone lovingly can bless and uplift them or, if given reluctantly, it can make the recipient feel intimidated and unimportant, a little weaker and more depressed.

What role do you play in your environment? Are you honored and recognized for the love and goodwill you distribute? The moment you step into your workplace, have you realized what is really important in life? Have you set a spiritual plan, a spiritual goal, to be achieved before you move on to the next precious dimension? Will you be sufficiently purified and committed to unconditional love to enter the highest levels of spiritual consciousness? Or are your goals still those of your Earthly plane? Ask yourself, what role do you really want to play in your environment? What is your spiritual destiny? Equally important: What are your attitudes towards others? Superiority and exclusivity? Or are you aware that most people are doing the best they can with whatever talents they possess to reach their full potential?

You must realize that neither position nor wealth can put limits on the power you can exercise in the world. Your only limitations are your attitudes and the thoughts that arise from your attitudes. The life force that radiates from the king's mind; of the prime minister; of the general, a modest servant or soldier is equally powerful and productive of good in the environment, as long as each one disciplines his thoughts until they are harmonized with the spiritual frequencies of unconditional love and divine consciousness. What is and such thoughts enter and enhance the very force of world consciousness. Each person who adds his or her spiritual thought to the world spiritual thought or strengthens the only factor that determines the degree to which it is imparted in life or disease tendencies, the level of spiritual realization and understanding that a person has drawn from the Source of being . Therefore the man who happily removes trash from the neighborhood, with a good heart, blessing everyone who comes into contact with him, is a shining light in his little world. And the greedy, the well-off rich man, who leaves his mansion with a bad temper to go to work, is a well of darkness that can be felt negatively by those who approach him. Whatever you are, whatever you possess, whatever position you occupy in life, there are no limits to the potential of your development. There are no limits to the potential of the greatness and glory of your being. Your only limitation is the time and energy that you are willing to dedicate to meditation on your Source of being, opening your human consciousness to enter within it and to receive it in your mind.

So: leaders, religious, venerate your Congregation!, because you do not know what enlightenment and spiritual progress is occurring in the minds of those who appear to be humble and socially of no importance. Religious leaders!: cease your criticism of other religions, because you do not know the heights of spiritual knowledge, insight and enlightenment that their adherents may have achieved! Religious leaders!: understand that you yourselves are advancing spiritually as much as your personal perception of Reality is! If you have no perception of what lies beyond the veil of your material world you may be religious, but you have no spiritual consciousness. This is the true ideal, the true aspiration, the highest goal, to understand and experience the reality that is behind and within all things, giving it its individual being can be called Reality, God, Jehovah, Infinite Intelligence, Divine Mind o Divine Consciousness or the Tao, all these names mean the Source of your being, your creative origins, you cannot have a higher aspiration than this, that of understanding and experiencing the Reality that is behind and within all things, giving, maintaining and sustaining every individual being. This was the goal presented by all the enlightened Masters who came to Earth. They all shared the same vision, the same realization and understanding. Such Masters were held in high esteem, but few of their followers understood their teachings. Each person interpreted the Master's words in their own way. Everyone's interpretation arose from their personal conditioning and biases in your personal life. Remember at all times that your thoughts, words and actions are not simply of interest to your future life, but also affect the people with whom you associate at any time in which you are personally contributing, entrepreneur or employee, to the proper functioning of the business in which you earn your living, whether it is a factory, farm shop or professional office, which you give to your employees or colleagues well-being or good feelings. What are you doing for the entire building? About the building, you may ask in surprise. But I repeat, what do you do for your building? Your vehicles, your entire commercial company, all bricks, mortar, steel, glass, paper, metal, tires, engines and gasoline are impregnated with the consciousness that you release when you go about your daily affairs. For this reason some people leave a trail of destruction behind them because they have a moody, irritable, critical, destructive conscience and others keep their possessions intact and looking new for years, because they appreciate and care for them daily.

Everything on your Earth is the energy of consciousness made visible, whether it is in the solid form of inanimate matter or living plasma. With your thoughts you feed or destroy what is in your environment. What are you doing to your family; to your home and your environment? Are you grumpy, migratory, destructive in your thoughts, towards work and others? Then you can be sure that you are leaving a small trail of destructive consciousness behind you. It will help you corrode everything that penetrates and soaks. If you focus on the desire to love; of doing; be and work with joy in your heart, then wherever you go you will be spreading an awareness of strength, blessing and growth. When I was on Earth, in Palestine, I dealt with Orthodox Jews who believed in and maintained codes of conduct so strict that they bordered on cruelty. Their traditional laws were inhibiting, depressing, limiting, and ridiculous. I brought to these people a new vision of an eternal Father who was transcendent to themselves, yet present everywhere, always aware of their needs and of such universal love that they could be sure that it was always the Father's will to satisfy. your needs. I told people to look around; to field; to the hills where the sheep and goats grazed peacefully; to the lakes full of fish and to the birds flying in the air and perching and nesting in the trees and to the flowers, so splendidly dressed in many colors.

I said: look when you understand what you see, you are seeing a world where everything has its needs and where everything has those needs satisfied. How can you doubt when you see the sheep living only on grass? What does the grass contain that nourishes the skin, bone, blood and flesh and produces young? Aren't you witnesses of a marvel of supply? Look at the needs of the birds, for they are wonderfully supplied. They have shelter in trees and seeds to strengthen themselves. As for the people, they need shelter, food and clothing. The father has given them the entire world from which they can satisfy their needs.

After Muhammad was enlightened, he perceived the same universal spirit that dwells within the being, both existing and active in all things. We, Muhammad and I, spoke to our countrymen of the same inspiration and asked them the same kind of questions. Is not the Father, the Divine Consciousness, who knows all, also aware of our deepest needs. Our needs for love, health and prosperity? How can you doubt? Those of you who have faith, your needs will be met. According to your faith, it is your lack of faith that separates you from the energy of the Father's natural flow, to love in your bodies, relationships and lives.

Often in despair, when I was on Earth in the person of Jesus I exclaimed: I wish I could tell you, show you and make you see how the Father knows your needs! I wish I could show you that you yourselves contribute to the formation of our mornings and the mornings of all those around you! If only it were possible to help you see that you truly reap what you sow, and if you could see the truth of existence, as I saw it when I was in the desert in Palestine, then we would know that your thoughts and actions grow in magnitude and strength day after day and take an external shape, exactly like the seeds of plants enter the earth and grow taking on larger and larger shapes, such as stems, leaves and fruits. As each day passes one after another, I wish I could show you how important every second of the day is; in the fabric of the home; in your work and your country! I long to help you see how your thoughts are the origin of all your good or evil. They are the same background of your good or evil. If some "bad guy" arrives, don't look at your neighbor to see where he or she is coming from. Look inside your hearts! When was the last time you were at odds with someone in a destructive way, due to slander, falsification of the truth, rejection or criticism? That was the moment of birth of our present. Weigh. They have told you that you must take out an "eye of someone who takes out your eye," but I tell you that that is nonsense. If they remove your eye from its socket and you remove your opponent's eye in the same way, you will probably soon find yourself without a hand and without a leg. It is better to stop, raise your mind and heart to the Father to the Divine Consciousness and ask for help, healing and protection from any greater misfortune and also pray for your adversary, because any bad feeling you have towards him will only attract more misfortune and affliction towards you. yourselves. Forgive him, pray for him, and you will attract blessings to yourselves, not because you have pleased the Father by having done what was right, but because your conscience will attract blessings to your experience. You will truly be blessing yourself by asking for blessings for others, but do not let this be a reason for your blessing to be corrupted by your self-love.

Always in any situation in which you see yourself threatened, stop, stay calm and call on the Father, on the Divine Consciousness, to help you and contemplate: LIBERATION WILL COME WITH COMPLETE SAFETY.

I tell you, without fear of contradiction, that if you live within the protection of the Father or the Divine Consciousness, you will radiate good will and love to everyone in your lives and your country, and even towards your so-called enemies. You will never be attacked. You will never know sadness. You will never be subject to any indisposition or misfortune, which are created by human consciousness.

You will be wrapped in a mantle of Light and Love. Divine Consciousness will flow within your minds, body and your life. People around you may fall ill, felled by an attack, anguished by panic, but you will follow the same path, aware that no one has the slightest human power against the power of the Source of your being, which has given us your own being and life on Earth.

No one can dare deny this statement, since no one who wants to deny it has reached the level of spiritual consciousness where such protection is a normal occurrence, so how can this statement be denied? And I speak the same truth to those who have reached the level of spiritual consciousness with which the universality of the Father is perceived, the Divine Consciousness and its abundant love radiated towards everything and everyone. Such spiritual Adepts who strive to live within that Love and radiate it with great pleasure will confirm that what I have said is true. They will have experienced miraculous protection in need and will know that they can relax in the sun of the Father's good will and love of the Divine Consciousness, they will also be happy to accept that the Divine Consciousness, called by any other name, GOD, YAHWEH, the ABSOLUTE, the INFINITE, ALLAH, always remains the all-pervading UNIVERSAL DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS, despite all the different terminologies used by various nations. You will have reached the level of spiritual awakening in which you can perceive that behind every color, language, belief and action of any kind, all people, all creation itself, is one at the roots of their being. Man and the ant share the same origins within the balance of Universal Consciousness. This is true freedom, the only freedom until you are ready to understand and accept that your Source of being is within you, above you and around you. It really can flow into your mind and body in direct response to prayer. He will be subject to all the indispositions of earthly human consciousness. When you steal, you will lose things too. When you fight, wound and kill, you will be maimed, wounded or killed in body or spirit. When you start a war it will be a long bitter fight. You yourself are the original cause of all the misfortunes you suffer. It is yours the ability to choose how you want to live in the future, you choose how you will live.

As you shift your consciousness from antagonism to love and acceptance of everyone, you also imagine the damage and harm you will inflict in thought. Your thought will reach the enemy act and will flow with its force according to the intensity of your intention. Do not think that your thought is dissolved and that it is no longer. It stays in the electromagnetic force and takes shape until it rebounds to hurt you too. You can do a lot of harm with your thinking and feel harm to others and harm to yourself, so guard the tools of your creativity well and at all times return to the Father to the Divine Consciousness and ask for relief from any thought that is contrary to the true one unconditional love.

According to the power of your prayer and the sincere faith in which you elevate your mind to divine consciousness, your thoughts will be imbued with new life and love. What we, the Brotherhood of Enlightened Ones, those enlightened in the Christ Consciousness, are about to tell you is of vital importance for the world in general. We speak in the same way to Christians, Jews, Muslims, Hindus, Buddhists and to every religion and every race in the world. We speak to everyone because each and everyone in the world needs this instruction so that it is possible for you to move to higher levels of spiritual awakening.

Your sexual and personal relationships between men and women are of much more importance to your overall well-being than you can imagine right now. We discuss these relationships in detail in the following pages, only because it is absolutely essential, vital for you men and women to awaken to the basic reality of your individuality and masculine or feminine identity and to the true source of gender differences. You must fully understand the true origins of your bodies and the masculine and feminine characteristics. They are not corpora created simply with different physical organs and modes of sexual expression in order to create children. They take the origins of their masculinity or femininity from their very Source of being from within the balance of consciousness.

I am telling you this before you read letter five, so that you can study that letter taking into account what I am telling you now about your sexuality. Therefore, if the sexuality of a man or woman is not used according to the intention of the Divine Consciousness expressed in the original act of creativity at the moment of the Big Bang. It is obvious that although sexuality can produce children, it will not bring men and women the unity of being and the personal fulfillment and joy of their original intention. The fact is that it will be the opposite over time, the sexual act itself will bring disappointment and bitterness, after which any love previously felt by the partner will be exhausted with knowledge and understanding. Spirit-grounded men and women will strive to transcend their present state of consciousness regarding male-female relationships of any kind, whether visual or otherwise. They will strive to express in their minds and hearts the purposes for which they were created in different ways. They will understand the origins of their innate impulses, temperaments, and different modes of self-expression and will value them and use the differences to enhance the well-being of others. The competition will disappear as this happens, you will harmonize more and more easily with the divine consciousness and by harmonizing more and more easily with the divine consciousness you will thus ascend to higher levels of spiritual consciousness. At this moment our approach to sexuality is your barrier to ascension in consciousness.

It keeps you tied to your humanity. I, We cannot emphasize enough that you have not discovered the truth of your existence until you have fully understood and sought to apply in your lives, in your homes and workplaces, the full understanding of the true meaning of man and woman. You have been told that you should not commit adultery, but I tell you that when you lust after your neighbor's wife or husband you are creating images in your thoughts that will affect the thinking of your neighbor's wife or husband. He or she will begin to think of you in the same way, feel uncomfortable in your company, sense your sexual need, and avoid you in the future. What is in your mind will surely enter the world, so do not deceive yourself that you can dream and conjure up images that please you that do not harm another. For this reason your pornographic literature is truly a blasphemous desecration of your Source of being. It is a sexual plague that deliberately stokes sexual appetite by releasing, through the lustful minds of men, unspeakable suffering and misery into the bodies and minds and emotions of young girls. What you have perpetrated and are doing at this current moment has helped bring your civilization to the brink of its current destruction. Be sure that the day of reckoning will come for you, those of you who publish and distribute the sick press, and it will come for those who use it to excite you. You of the Western world have earned the contempt of the East, due to your decadent folly. You will not escape what you have sown and you, from the East, will not escape the folly of your callous attitudes towards your women who bear and raise your sons and precious daughters. Some of you, out of ignorance of the truth for your own selfish purposes and gains, have ridiculed the truth of Muhammad and covered your women with heavy garments denying them freedom of movement and free will when going out among the people.

What kind of man will your irrational, self-centered beliefs and behavior attract? Only men who have no kind feelings toward women. Are there such followers that your prophet Muhammad would have attracted when he was on Earth?: No, not at all. He attracted only highly spiritualized people. What kind of image of our prophet are you giving to the rest of the world?: I'll tell you. That of a man of mind and obsessed with the inferior state of the female sex, who considers women as a possession of men who must be isolated from the world. A man unaware of a woman's true needs for her to be happy. A man unaware of his grief in the state of captivity and submission. This man has nothing to do with the true Muhammad the prophet of Islam. When He was on earth He revered and respected the female sex. It was from the female sex, from the species from which he deduced the way to advance on his spiritual path towards enlightenment. He owed them a lot and knew that although they were different in body, they were equal in spirit. In fact it was not fortuitous that he came to earth poor and deprived to meet a lady of extreme virtue, material wealth and spiritual enlightenment to help him rise to the stature of a prophet when he was qualified to do so. That was the purpose of Muhammad's arrival on Earth to restore women to their rightful place as equal companions of the dominant man. Consider this well, after enlightenment I, the person of Jesus, became celibate because I chose to do so. But this in no way interfered with my love for the women who attended to my needs, but Muhammad after enlightenment met many women and his ministry was that of the one who was called to learn to live and treat women with equality and love. Just as for convenience my followers reported on my work and teachings selectively, to promote their own purposes. Likewise, the selfishness of certain individuals who were spiritually blind caused them to distort the original teachings of Muhammad with numerous additions and interpretations that were never Muhammad's intention. It is in this way that the work of every great spiritual Master is clothed with the misinformation of human thought, until the truth is so obscured by fallacies that people are seriously misled and even fall into sin through ignorance. Since you and certain other religions have strongly adhered to the belief that Adam and Eve were created to live happily in the Garden of Eden, from the temptation of Eve, by the serpent. His fall from grace and his temptation to Adam, man has perceived woman as the great temptress. The imaginary origins of humanity are not true, they are merely allegories. It is also not true that women are the great temptress. For eunuchs, women have no attraction, because that is what it is, because what drives a man to sleep with a woman is taken away, therefore, in whom is the tempter?: In the man himself, who can it be taken away? physically or in the woman who remains herself despite everything? Man is made precisely to plant the seed, therefore he must plant it wherever the opportunity arises. Woman has been made to receive the seed.

In years gone by before the 20th century, women were sexually inactive until seduced by men. Where then is the tempter? In the man who awakens the woman or in the seduced and awakened woman?

Man has been hiding from his own masculine nature in the name of purity and placing the responsibility of his fall on the woman.

This activity is sacred, it is worthy, it must continue.

We speak to those of you who profess the Muslim faith and who think that you are sinless today, of pure mind, for having wrapped your women in heavy clothing to protect yourselves from temptation and to prevent other men from seeing your possessions. . To what extent are you misguided by your own passions?

Being protected from the exercise of your human desires, they simply increase until they explode in some brutal and virulent form. The rest of us already say to men and women everywhere. True purity can only be achieved when you can be surrounded by all kinds of temptation and remain indifferent to desire, indifferent to earthly feelings, uncorrupted by earthly lust. Free from cravings and desires for possessions. Purity, in all its forms, transcends all earthly physical hungers. Purity has the ability to see temptation for what it is, a grossness of thought and feeling, which traps the senses of men and women into doing impure things. A truly pure person only desires the clean and honest environment appropriate to his innate longing for spiritual love and the beauty of self-expression in every facet of his life. That is true purity. However, true purity cannot be achieved if one has not first felt the long years of temptation. It is a necessary part of your spiritual development.

If you have not been seriously tempted at some time and have finally come to understand that there is a higher path to follow, a path of self-denial and sincere concern and attention from a good woman, you will never attain a state of true purity. You will be enslaved by desire and will find yourself in a constant confusion of inner conflict therefore, do not avoid temptation by covering women in artificial conditions of pseudo purity, rather men and women, take off your clothes, revere each other's bodies. others like the beautiful visible external forms of the Divine Consciousness within and you will experience the liberation that true spiritual purity will provide you.

Suffer detention and overcome it. Take your conflict to the Divine Consciousness and seek its power to help you overcome physical craving, because only then will you find the liberation, the peace of mind that you are basically looking for. If at that moment you seek relief and release from your craving, giving in to it, there will be no relief or release, the craving itself will return in due time and you will again know the acute conflict. If you again give way to the conflict, it will become even more intense, awaiting your decision to stand firm in the power of divine consciousness until the craving is definitively subdued by perceiving the sacred beauty, the reality behind and within all physical form. , the highest spirituality between the sexes. It is when man and woman can be naked together and at peace in a state of mutual reverence, of soul, mind, heart and body in such spirituality. The only thing they feel toward each other is love and care for each other's well-being. From such tender and compassionate love and care will come an ecstatic union, which few have experienced and if there is intention, a child of incomparable beauty of body and mind will be conceived.

In the centuries to come, when people have begun to evolve spiritually at every level of their humanity, such love between partners will be normal and the kind of selfish sex that seeks only physical satisfaction that is practiced at this time will be seen as absolutely degrading as hateful as rape. At the present time the highest spiritual path to follow regarding the sexes is to recognize and adhere to the perception that men and women were created to perform special tasks in life appropriate to their underlying nature. The man impregnates the woman. Without the good will and help of the woman, the man would end his days without offspring, without a human being to continue his name. Therefore, man must treat woman as totally equal, but born to perform different responsibilities. You must give her the highest respect, love and care at all times so that she is able to carry out her responsibilities with greater ease, because it is she who gives visible form to what is first conceived in the mind.

When a woman receives a sperm that unites with her egg within the most hidden part of her body, a miracle occurs to which you, the man, have not contributed anything other than with your sperm in a moment of delight, which is your reward. You can only contribute to maintaining the health and normal development of the miracle to which you have given life within your partner's body, by your constant careful love for their well-being and health and by protecting them from all external and emotional harm. This is your masculine responsibility, only then will you deserve to stay by her side as the father of her child. If you fail in this you have no value as the father of the child and you have no value before yourself as a man born to manifest your divine science of the spiritual father within your physical life. A man who harasses a woman carrying his child, who treats her with contempt, who offers her harsh and brutal words and physical treatment, is breaking the most fundamental law of existence according to which man and woman must be united. in the equality of his divine being.

Women who are respected, loved and protected must also respect, love and offer renewal of spirit and body to their partner, nurturing his ability to give of himself to her. A woman who does not nurture her partner in a caring manner with tenderness and love is depriving her masculine spirit of the will to endure when faced with the difficulties she encounters in the outside world, she will seek comfort from another source: men or women. , drinking or drugs, or isolating themselves within the home without any use, neither for their partner nor for their children, therefore men and women have the same responsibility to care for and love each other. Just as a man must learn to channel the Father aspect of Divine Consciousness into family and work on a daily basis, so a woman must learn to express the Mother aspect of Divine Consciousness in her daily life. Those who deny this truth will be denied access to the Celestial Kingdom until they have increased their spiritual perception, with the help of prayer changing their attitude. Only by raising your vision above the earthly human perception of masculine and feminine and beyond your earthly desires and ego impulses into the reality from which you have received your being, will you be able to escape the wheel of reincarnation and find the entrance to ultimate joy and glory. If within a culture woman is considered simply as a possession object of man's desires and is not as a woman entirely equal to man, such a culture has not understood the true nature of man and the true nature of woman. Man and woman are two equal halves of one entity. When the single man and lives alone manifests a single aspect of his Source of being and when the woman lives alone and she also manifests a single aspect of her Source of being, the Divine intention of the Universal Consciousness was to express its own integrity through through creation by individualizing in physical form each of the two equally balanced aspects of itself and then bringing them back together in physical form to experience the unity of integrity of Divine Consciousness from which they originally took their individuality by uniting in love and unity of spirit and body discover the joy and ecstasy of Universal Consciousness in balance.

This entire process is clearly set out in cards five and seven therefore the combination of the masculinity of the man and the femininity of the woman is essential to form a wholeness drawn from the Source of being. From this combination a whole child is formed. When I was in the desert in Palestine, I first understood that the dominant nature of the creativity of Universal Consciousness, our Source of being, was the intention to create, plan and design and then produce that design by cultivating it, feeding it, healing it, protecting it and satisfying it. all your needs in a disciplined manner. Both men and women have been evolved physically and consciously to experience intention and express it in all possible ways in their lives. This is the very first act of creativity. Without intention there would be no creation. Intention is the origin and permeates all existence. The intention defines the nature of the loving or destructive act. Man and woman have been individualized to experience and formulate intention in their lives. This is the very first impulse of creativity. Man and woman have also been individualized to experience and express willpower.

Willpower in men is experienced and expressed primarily as activity. In a primitive way he goes out into the environment to carry out his intention, therefore he puts on the attire of a leader and seeker. He was individualized to think and work to realize his purposes without the hindrance of emotions. Willpower in women is motivated and experienced above all as a feeling. The need to nourish the original intention and decisively bring it to fullness, fruition through the process of caring, feeding, clothing, repairing, teaching, protecting, its purpose is totally different from intention since the purpose comes down from the mental plane of the intention and it becomes an emotional drive. A desire to formulate a means of achieving the desired end. A powerful intention to do something becomes the purpose behind continued existence. In this way thought is married with feeling to give purpose to the work of creation. The masculine is constantly hovering in search of new ideas, new ways to fulfill his intentions to give him purpose in life. Feminine intentions are personified, sensitive and stable purposes, prepared to sacrifice themselves for loved ones, therefore the two basic impulses within the Source of being expressed in physical form as male and female are interdependent. One could not survive without the other. Both are needed for the continuity of creation because of their masculine mobility, their drive for leadership, man has been considered superior to woman. This is because she remains stable creating security for the man, but the feminine impulse is the impulse of unconditional love, the impulse worthy of the highest respect and consideration to allow her to flourish and fulfill her innate purpose within the home in peace of mind and with joy. . The man's role is to provide physical security and material means of subsistence for the family. The woman's role is to provide emotional security and the emotional resources for personal achievement and joy within the family environment. In the past, both in the East and the West, the man has exercised his dominant role within the home by making the woman submissive and obedient to his will. In doing so he has twisted and distorted the energies of the Divine Consciousness and channeled them from his mind and my heart creating a deviant civilization, he has also distorted the consciousness of women instilling in her a deep resentment towards her submissive role, which she knows for intuition that he should not endure and thus he has created a degrading way of life for himself and his partner entirely in conflict with the nature of his Source of being. The fact that women have had to exercise their masculine impulse of aggression to express their equality of being, to achieve the respect they deserve within society, means that your civilization has become totally destabilized and sick. The woman is usurping the male role out of desperation, but in doing so she is defrauding the intention behind creation. The man and the woman have completely lost their way. In underdeveloped countries people live only halfway, trying to solve the division between men and women through casual sex, as a consequence the man and woman become even more divided and dissatisfied. Conflict in the family unit creates overwhelm, misery and separation even if they live under the same roof. In developed countries, psychiatric wards are full of people, unhappy children who say they don't really know who they are or what their purpose in life is. They ask the experts who don't know the answers either. It must also be remembered that each person, man and woman, has lessons to learn in life, which can only be learned in the gender and race in which they find themselves, which is why a woman must accept her role in life as the provider of emotional love and security of your partner and children, with self-respect and dignity and doing everything to the best of your ability. You must recognize that the role of provider of emotional security is absolutely vital to society. She supplies the glue of love and well-being that holds families, cities and countries together. When she understands her true place and purpose in society and seeks to realize and achieve it in the highest way possible, she is rapidly advancing on the path of unconditional love and toward the highest rewards of personal fulfillment and happiness. He will also rise to a higher level of consciousness, perhaps as a man in his next life, which will bring great benefits to humanity. In the same way spiritually evolved men, even spiritual Masters, will return to life on Earth to learn true humility and to put into daily practice their high principles of existence as a loving woman who mothers with wisdom and nourishes all who are in need of what you can offer. Where then is the inequality?.. Remove it from your limited vision and intellect to see clearly that there should be no inequality, only shared intentions to express all that the two of you have extracted from the Divine consciousness in the most spiritual way in order to achieve highest possible happiness on earth in the years to come. When a man and a woman have evolved spiritually, when they are divided in their intention together they will take their intentions to the Divine Consciousness/Father/Mother. Asking what our circumstances are to create, what is the best way to move forward? when answers have been received they will accept them wholeheartedly and share them. Any difference in answers you will respect and again take to Divine Consciousness with the same request, until a sincere consensus has been reached together. The man and the woman will once again ask the Divine Consciousness. How best can we achieve our purposes? and again they will share their answers And they will continue to ask until they finally arrive at a workable plan which has been conceived not only in the human brain but in the highest dimension of creativity, Divine Consciousness. Working together in this way, you will ultimately experience the supreme bliss of true unity of soul, mind, heart and body. Finally, the man could not easily exist without also experiencing and manifesting some of the feminine impulse, he needs emotions to unite with his wife, children and other relationships, colleagues, schoolchildren, co-workers and friends. Without warm feelings, I would often be a cold monster. If you are an old soul, you keep alive the warmth and affection of previous incarnations when you were a woman.

The more you evolve spiritually, the more balanced the sexual impulses are within your nature. This also refers to women. Likewise, the woman could not easily exist without some of the masculine drive, without the ability to intelligently plan her home she would be a disaster, and there is also the possibility that she was a strong masculine personality in her previous incarnation and feels uncomfortable in the feminine role of sacrificing herself for others. Such a woman must ask Divine Consciousness to clarify her vision so that she can see that without love for humanity, leadership is a dangerous exercise. As men and women are approaching the balance of their masculine and feminine natures within themselves, their task in life is to transcend their sexual drive by achieving unconditional love for all people and directing the same drive to pure creativity as such. as in the arts. From such people teachers are made, teachers of themselves, teachers of creativity, teachers of human consciousness, teachers of matter. Unfortunately, in the current time, your men and women, who are approaching the equal balance of their masculine/feminine natures within a single nature of their own, have no guidance on what their true goals should be. They have lost their way and created a spurious society among themselves in which the joy and personal fulfillment they seek are denied due to their preoccupation with bodily functions rather than spiritual achievements. They will continue to be unhappy people tormented by conflicts until they discover the truth about who they really are. When talking about the female role in life it should also be said that many modern women in developed countries have achieved a high degree of male drive in the last 100 years. They must choose their priorities in life carefully. They don't have to sit at home, stagnant and bored, but they will become happier and more accomplished people who dedicate their intelligence and skills to creating new ways of constructive living for the whole family. Right now you may not know how to do it, but meditation will bring to your mind the necessary inspiration on how best to use your leadership powers and talents for the happiness of all. Men who have developed a greater capacity for empathy with women and with their fellow men, also through meditation followed by inspiration, will find higher ways to express their leadership capacity in their work, providing happiness to others. Because I, We, have dealt with this matter of the sexes very thoroughly. This has been absolutely necessary since the battle of the sexes in both the East and the West is creating unhealthy conditions on Earth. It spreads aggression and nurtures anger and hostility. Sexual freedom has brought the world to a critical point of extinction due to the impregnation of AIDS to everyone. Viruses are created within the forces of destructive consciousness. You must understand that human beings have created their own viruses. Each virus is an impulse of living destructive consciousness made visible to where the impulse of destructive consciousness was directed at the moment the virus took form. I spoke very clearly about this aspect of existence when I was on Earth in the person of Jesus. The Jews had a strict tradition of washing cups before drinking from them. I told them very clearly that they should not worry about what went in through their mouth, they should worry more about what came out of their mind and heart and then out of their mouth.

In those times science had not discovered the presence of viruses, but it was accepted that illness resulted from eating and drinking with dirty utensils, but I knew that illness came from the minds and hearts of angry and rabid people. It then spread by cell division. But instinct and consciousness that initially gave him being were always equated. AIDS is no accident, it has arisen from the forces of self-indulgence consciousness and destructive emotional reactions between sexual partners. Hatred and submerged anger can drive people to the sexual act, leaving behind unhealthy residues in the mind, in the emotions and in the body, because emotional attunement has not always motivated the sexual act between men and women. They have known severe disappointments and lack of liberation and satisfaction. When this occurs the male sexual energy diminishes and has to be revived with images of sexual perversions, as a consequence pornography has become big business in some countries. It pleases only the bodily instincts. From pornography has arisen the lack of respect for women and the mechanical and emotionless sexual act, along with the increase in rape and sexual abuse of children. People who give in to these abominable acts of depraved cruelty will surely reap the consequences in this life or in a future incarnation. Therefore when followers of Islam condemn the West for its undisciplined sexual behavior and perversion, they are right to think that they are bringing unhealthy conditions upon the Earth. These unhealthy conditions are not sent by Allah, but are a natural consequence of breaking the laws of existence. In the same way, the followers of Islam are breaking the laws of existence, because just as the Jews maintain the law of "Eye for Be careful" and believe in holy war. There is no such thing as holy war, there is only the reality of holy forgiveness and of holy reconciliation, treating your brother with love and understanding, whether your enemy or your friend. None of you can break the laws of existence and aspire to enter the Kingdom of Heaven or Paradise. Your behavior has no place beyond the commotion you are causing and that will fall on yourselves. We will leave you with these thoughts and we ask you to receive them deeply into consciousness and to put them to good use in your daily lives. We strongly encourage you to meet in small groups, regardless of religious beliefs, and to use the cards as guidelines in your daily lives. Undo, if you can, your conditioning and unite in true humility, as people willing to accept that you know little about true spirituality, but who are strongly eager to learn how to enhance and spiritualize your lives. As many of you know, if you are aware, you are entering a new phase of world history during which the great dividing line will no longer be seen to be between the rich and the poor. The great division will be in consciousness. The dividing line will be between those who have been able to find the entrance to the highest spiritual consciousness and will radiate love and acceptance equally to all friends and enemies and who will have as their goal the irradiation of Divine Consciousness in every facet of their daily life and those who remain locked within the impulses of their ego seeking to dominate the weak. You may appear to succeed for a time, but in the end you will fail and your suffering in your self-created darkness will be great.

These cards will be your means of leaving the darkness to enter the Light as you seek the elevation of your spiritual frequencies of consciousness by radiating love towards everyone unconditionally, thus you will go through a slow Ascension of consciousness, which will have a dynamic effect in your physical health and in your earthly conditions.

The elevation of world consciousness will depend on you brave people. You will emerge strong and resolute from the coming conflict and we will proceed to build another kind of world consciousness that, when introduced, is the beginning of spiritual, technical and economic progress, and world peace that will last for centuries.

I the Christ, I have spoken. We, the Brotherhood of Masters, speak to Christians, Muslims, Buddhists, Jews, Hindus, Sufis and all religious beliefs of the world, you are all involved in our Love. Believe it, because this is true.

End.

Continues in letter 5.

Blessings.

We send a very strong and tight hug to each of you from Teacher Lady Nada.
