

THE 9 LETTERS OF CHRIST.
CHRIST RETURNS. SPEAK HIS TRUTH
LETTER VI

These LETTERS present knowledge which people down the eons have longed to know, but have not received because their world scientific knowledge was not sufficient for them to understand. This is how it was when I was in Palestine in the person of 'JESUS'; time and time again I explained the TRUTH of UNIVERSAL EXISTENCE in various ways, but no one understood.

As most of you must understand: I have NOT come at this time to bring you a new religion, a better code of morality, or a new 'God' to worship. Nor do I preach, like your metaphysicians, 'positive thinking'. Your humanly conceived 'positive thinking', which magnetizes your human needs and desires and is the means of fulfilling your ambitions, simply strengthens your egocentric impulse.

All blessed and generous things will be manifested in you and your life as you realize that: The entire universe is the transcendent UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS, made visible when IT takes material form through the activity of the 'ego'.

Your true purpose on your spiritual path is to free yourself from the bondage of the 'ego' and make contact, increasingly pure, with DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS... Your final destiny is to recognize HIS omnipresence both within yourself, as well as through your daily activities. Your highest spiritual goal is to reach that spiritually exalted moment, when you finally realize that your human mind and its desires are only finite,-and therefore, they can never provide you with the happiness and fulfillment that you will experience when you renounce the ego and come to DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS... asking ONLY for the HIGHEST PATH MORE ABUNDANT LIFE and the true spiritual PURPOSE, which only you can fulfill in your earthly state.

However, to help you reach this high point of understanding, I am about to go into detail about the origins and function of the 'EGO'...

As I look at your world, I see a dimension currently controlled by EGOCENTRIC FORCE.

All the bad things in YOUR CURRENT DECADENT SOCIETY, in your huge soulless cities, arise from the Egocentric Force. It is the source of all evil, lying and perverted activity that is currently in operation on your planet. Control the media, your TV, your families and nations. It produces wars throughout the world. It creates a vile miasma of lower consciousness energies that the Higher Spiritual Entities perceive, but which is too horrible to behold.

If your current consciousness is permeated by the love of possessions and an inability to share with others, devising ways to get rich at the expense of others, stealing, not doing work conscientiously, or not giving good quality for the money you receive , snapping, grunting, indulging in criticism, sarcasm, judging, rejecting, denigrating, generating enmity, intolerance, hatred, jealousy, aggression, violent impulses, theft, falsehoods, treatment misleading and double-sided, slander – then you are ego-driven. Your 'ego' is in control and you have difficulty moving through the miasma of egocentric consciousness to see Reality.

For this reason, I have come through the channel of these LETTERS, to help you understand exactly what it is that is binding you to your current conditions, the horror that was unimaginable to the human mind a century ago.

Now I am about to explain in more detail the

EGOCENTRISM

AT THE MOMENT OF YOUR CONCEPTION, during intercourse, as your father's consciousness rose through the spine, higher and higher in the head, the tension rose to its peak and your father's consciousness briefly touched the DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS creating a flash, a small explosion that he experienced as an orgasm and then an injection of DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS was infused into his semen, to give life to your mother's egg.

The moment of union with the woman and the explosion of tension in the man, at the moment of orgasm, is reconstructed as the moment of the BIG BANG when the UNITY of the "Consciousness - Father/Mother" exploded into separate energies, and the first electrical particles, along with random matter, took shape... The Father Consciousness provided the energy of "Activity and Impetus" and the Mother Consciousness provided the "Adhesion" to give form and substance to the electrical particles. These are PRIMORDIAL IMPULSES that give life and shape to men and women! I want you to understand... that Creation is not a 'creation' of matter imbued with consciousness.

Creation is the visible form of the PRIMORDIAL IMPULSES, taken and united to make individual forms and entities, all expressing diverse facets and combinations of the PRIMORDIAL IMPULSES that give life and form to man and woman in countless ways. Therefore, the ORIGINAL IMPULSES are the Reality that your eyes, ears, smell and touch say are solid 'matter', but which in reality are individualized IMPULSES OF CONSCIOUSNESS, intended to be experienced, intellectually understood, and emotionally appreciated. . At the moment of conception, when the semen unites with the egg, and mating occurs... the chromosomes of male consciousness join the chromosomes of female consciousness. This is a physical union, of your own consciousness of your father's semen and your own consciousness of your mother's ovum, filled with power by the Divine... And thus, the consciousness of the male and female chromosomes is engraved with the genetic pattern of the DNA of both parents. The moment of physical union of semen and egg takes place on two levels of creativity...

The injection of DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS became your SOUL incarnated in the union of the human consciousness of the semen and the egg. The physical was created, driven by the power of the Father/Mother/Life Consciousness which controlled the activity and union of conscious cells, producing the gradual growth and development of your physical body – which is really Consciousness made visible, in every level of your being – and nothing more.

Your soul remained as an inviolate 'flame' (metaphor) of the 'Father/Mother' LIFE, deeply intertwined in the physical impulses of:

ACTIVITY – ADHESION/ REPULSION

These became your individuality and earthly personality. Incorporated within the transcendent LIFE IMPULSES of the 'Divine Father/Mother Consciousness', these consciousness impulses now took charge of the process of creating your physical consciousness, and became the driving force of your personality. Together, 'Activity - Adhesion' worked to build each conscious cell after conscious cell, according to the specifications of the consciousness contained in the consciousness of the DNA molecules. Both the personality and the body are the products of these human impulses of 'Activity - Adhesion/Rejection'. While UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS remains forever balanced in space and therefore imperceptible. In that same space, in the vibratory frequencies, the primordial impulses of 'Activity-Adhesion/Rejection, work together in the visible dimension, appearing to your senses in the form of electro-magnetism.

Both UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS and your Soul remain undisturbed within the silence and stillness of balance in space. The creativity of earthly consciousness takes place within space and time and in various vibrational frequencies of materialized consciousness.

Therefore, you take living form, and continue living within two dimensions. One dimension is invisible, DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS – and the other, visible dimension is everything that the living human being can feel or understand, until spiritual development raises the vibratory frequencies of his human consciousness to the spiritual plane... and a glimpse of understanding enters your earthly consciousness. As this process of gradual illumination continues, the elevated human consciousness then works consciously in both the Invisible and Visible dimensions.

The higher the vibratory frequencies of the individualized consciousness, the higher and more perfect are the forms created in the mind – The lower the vibratory frequencies, the more separated from the Universal Perfection of Love, are the forms created in the individualized mind, totally possessed by impulse – egocentric.

The 'EGO' takes control over the development of the fetus, from the moment of the union of the semen with the egg. The new little being immediately became an "I", which feels satisfaction and dissatisfaction in the womb, depending on the feeling of comfort or discomfort and what happens to the mother.

When you were born your survival instincts, engraved with the deep original knowledge of the 'created being', embedded in every living cell of your body, prompted you to breathe, and made you aware of an emotional emptiness and loss when separated from the comfort of the womb that confined you, which then felt like a void and a physical need for nourishment

And thus your egocentric cry was born!

When you cried, you suckled from your mother, which was deeply satisfying – both physically and emotionally. When your needs were fully met, you could return to a state of balance within sleep.

When you woke up from balance, you felt a sense of insecurity (balance was now divided into mental and emotional awareness), you remembered that your mother and her milk created satisfaction from the needed security, and so again, you cried. Your needs were satisfied. This is how your 'egocentric impulse' developed.

Sometimes you cried and it was humanly decided that it wasn't time to eat yet and they let you cry for a while. This created an understanding that needs were not always met right away and that you would have to adapt. You either chose to get angry and cry harder – or you stayed silent... Your choice of reaction depended on the characteristics of the 'ego drive' that were engraved in your consciousness at birth.

None of the forms of ego thrust could be condemned or judged. They were the natural result of the Creative Factor of the Ego, which ensures INDIVIDUALITY. As I explained in my last Letter, the EGO is the GUARDIAN of INDIVIDUALITY. If you didn't have this built-in impulse to 'cry' for what you need to make yourself happy or to reject what makes you sad, you would be in an empty limbo. If you didn't run when you were in danger or call for help, you could die. If you had not cried 'demanding' food at birth... you could have died of hunger. If you had not enjoyed the milk while suckling, and had not clung to your mother affectionately, perhaps you would never have developed a loving closeness of union with her... Without the EGO IMPULSE, there would be no creation, no individuality, no need satisfaction, no protection, no responsive warmth, no human love. Without the EGO DRIVE there would be no self-defense, no self-protection, no survival. However, the EGO IMPULSE, the primary 'I' of the individual, is engraved only for the need for SELF-SATISFACTION and SURVIVAL...

During childhood, the 'I' of the ego is governed by what you like and what you don't like, by the desires and rejection of what you don't want, and by the habits that are formed by the continuous repetition of sensations and the feelings. Bad habits are formed in the form of unacceptable responses of the ego to personal experiences and the environment and these, in turn, are recorded in the unconscious or subconscious mind and remain hidden. However, these emerge under repeated patterns of behavior, when the 'memory' of previous circumstances and modes of behavior unconsciously bring them to mind.

Now, the subconscious mind and the conscious mind begin to work together to develop the personality. Much behavior becomes conditioned behavior and is very difficult to change. When the person is unconsciously programmed with strong egocentric habits of thought and behavior – and finds it difficult to live harmoniously with others, that person then goes to a psychologist to help him unravel the complexities of his mental/emotional problems. Until my Truth of Existence is fully understood and the Life-generating principles become the firm standard of habits of thought and response to the experiences of life, the pain and suffering that arise from the ignorant indulgences of the selfish impulses will persist.

The Church describes this human difficulty as 'temptation of Satan'. It is no such thing. It is a natural process caused by uncontrolled reactions towards life, driven by the Egocentric Force, whose sole purpose is to bring individual happiness and contentment, satisfaction in need or intimacy, independence, security, peace.... All directed towards SURVIVAL.

It must be understood that there is nothing evil in egocentric force. It is the necessary tool of creation. It is the individual himself, who causes the imbalances in life by allowing the egocentric force full control over his personality, without thought or consideration for others.

This should not be judged or criticized either, since the person who is possessed by the force of his ego does not know any other way of thinking or operating within the earthly dimension.

The child does not know anything about self-control, only what his parents and teachers at school teach him. Therefore, the mistakes he makes in responding to life with its ups and downs can only be accepted with good spirit by parents and teachers, since the child has no understanding of what is driving him.

If you want something – you WANT it now, and you wonder why you shouldn't have it. There is nothing on his mind but that. You see something you like – you want it.

It is cruel to tell a child abruptly: 'No, you can't have it.' That insults and assaults your entire system. From early childhood, the process of training him should begin with logic and well-established trust – affirming his right to feel safe within his environment. His sense of security must be developed by explaining to him the correct way to express his wishes. LOVE – not irritation or anger must choose the words that explain to the child why he cannot have what he wants. The child will hear the message when it is given to him with love. But when it is given to him in anger it will stir up his deepest egocentric force and begin to take the form of overt or hidden resentment or a deep-rooted feeling of frustration that taints the 'ego' and reduces the child's inner 'natural sense of validity'. . A child needs to possess this sense of personal validity and it must not be subjugated or destroyed.

Parents and teachers need to point out, very clearly, that other people in the world also have their needs, their rights to possessions, their desires for peace and pleasure. No one, not even a child – or adult – has the right to upset another in order to obtain their own satisfaction! If another hits the child and makes him cry, it is natural that the egocentric force that wants to hit back is programmed to defend itself against the other.

This requires parents and teachers to point out that a revenge conflict is simply continually increasing, bringing more pain to each child and, for this reason, revenge is meaningless at all. Better to LAUGH and turn around. And instead of allowing the irritation and pain in the mind to continue, it is better to bring the problem to DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS in prayer, and ask that the pain disappear from your consciousness and seek a means of reconciliation.

You must also teach the child to take time to understand that – he and the other child are equally born of the Divine Moment. When a child is spiritually receptive and can make a habit of recognizing his spiritual affinity with other children and with every living being, and that the 'rights of others are equal to his own,' he will have received the greatest spiritual gift. . In this way, the egocentric force is weakened by the practical daily application of inspired love, while the central domain of the child's 'I' remains strong and self-assured. The child must be taught the benefits of laughter, which I will describe and explain in a LETTER later.

Therefore, skillful, insightful teaching is absolutely necessary to guide the child to appreciate the rights of others - JUST LIKE HIS OWN.

This is the spiritual law that should dominate the home and the school classroom. Any other law of judging circumstances is defective and lacks balance.

The best teaching will depend – not on the will of the teacher – on a 'because I told you so' attitude, but on a systematic reference, in every circumstance, to 'brotherly love' and the equal rights of others. At the same time, a child should not be indoctrinated in 'selflessness' since this kind of disposition must be desired and born only from the individual's spiritual perceptions and objectives... Self-denial is born from spiritual enlightenment, from following a higher path, from denying the small SELF to remove the egocentric barriers that obstruct the ability to attune to the universality of Divine Consciousness. Truly enlightened self-denial takes spiritual consciousness to the heights of bliss. There is no sense of loss at all.

To better describe the reality of the soul and ego, I want you to cup your hands, fingertips pressed together, leaving a space between the two hands. The hands represent the 'shell of human consciousness' of a person – the ego.

SPACE correctly represents the SOUL, born from 'Father-Mother Consciousness - Life' at the moment of your conception... While to the human senses it appears to be 'nothing' it is actually a sprout of the TOTALITY and INTEGRITY of the DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS, from which all created things have taken form. Your hands with the space in between represents the 'ME'.

Your hands, right and left, represent the two powerful forces of the magnetic egocentric force. They represent the forces of 'adhesion/rejection', but at the same time, rightly so, they are the physical representation of physical energies, which science knows as magnetism - 'Adhesion and Repulsion'.

Fold your right hand back and visualize using it to 'get what you want out of life.' It also represents what your human consciousness perceives as the 'greedy' attitude towards life.

Give this exercise time and realize that your right hand represents the magnetic pull, the adhesion, the attraction, the gravity evident in every magnetic pull of nature. It is the source of all 'desire and longing'. It is the magnetic impulse that is always directed towards achieving what is necessary or highly desired and pleasurable in life. This magnetic impulse has the 'spiritual intention' of being directed towards constructive purposes. Winning, sustaining, building, achieving. If there were no other people, or living creatures in the world, the magnetic impulse could have full control over a personality and there would be no harm. It is only when 'other people', or other living beings, or the loved ones and possessions of others, have to be taken into account, that the 'uncontrolled magnetic impulse that attracts, adheres, grabs and possesses', becomes a disease. of personality if it is not balanced equally with the needs of all other living beings.

Place your hand in its original place – cupped with your left hand. Now bring your left hand back and visualize that this hand represents the 'magnetic impulse' to repel, push, slap or defend yourself against any unauthorized invasion of your property, possessions, or any attack on your person, family or work. This left hand represents the 'magnetic impulse of rejection' whose spiritual intention is to ensure your privacy and save your life. It is a legitimate weapon when your physical or emotional survival is at stake – as long as you remember that your every action is an electro-magnetic pattern of adhesion/repulsion activity in consciousness, which bounces back and eventually externalizes itself in the form of an attack. similar about oneself.

can be criticism from your father, teacher, boss, and the words of self-defense that come to mind and come out of your mouth are 'egocentric' words caused entirely by self-defense, which express the magnetic impulse of repulsion and rejection. And as your egocentric words of attack burst into angry speech, so too your rival's ego is threatened and words of self-defense arise from him/her against you. What may have begun as a necessary adult action 'indicating some error and a better way to act' is often quickly understood by a sensitive and self-centered ego as a personal attack. What should have been a time of growth became a time of conflict, anger, possibly tears, ongoing resentment, and mutual hostility.

In such quick, unexpected and unnecessary ways, conflict is created in the mind expressed in words or even actions, and perpetuated through resentment and hatred.

Remember that every activity of the mind, mental thought and emotional reactions of attraction and repulsion, are all energies of consciousness creativity. These energies of consciousness not only create the unpleasant bouncing forms, but give a certain direction to the character, and even affect the general relationships and environment, and reduce the vitality of the life of the body, leading directly to a feeling of physical discomfort, a viral infection or a long-term illness.

The highest path, when one is attacked in any way – a path that has only constructive repercussions, is to remember that you can instantly call upon DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS, from which you will receive instant protection in any eventuality. But this is only possible if you can move beyond the magnetic impulse of ego resistance, with the perfect assurance that DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS meets your every need.

Now return your left hand to its original position with your right hand.

Notice that during this exercise, the SPACE between the hands has remained – SPACE. It is not involved in any hand activities. And so it is with your SOUL, when your ego is busy at work, second after second, which is always and forever on alert to fulfill your needs and to defend you from any unpleasantness. THE DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS of your SOUL remains hidden, although it is always inside you.

When I was on earth, I talked to people about the 'Kingdom of Heaven', I said it was inside you, and so it is. It's your soul. It is the abode of the balance of DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS that gave you your being as a future man or woman.

I long to be able to put in your mind a broad vision of your SOURCE of BEING so that you can perceive a little more clearly your beginning – where you have come from. You must also understand at all times that when I utter a word to describe THAT WHICH IS REALLY UNKNOWABLE, I myself am at the highest infinitesimal frequencies of vibration, at the very edge of the GREAT UNIVERSAL BALANCE from which all things have found its being and taken its form...

If I talk about a mountain, an image will enter your mind, but you will not know the immensity of its structure, the resistance of its rock, its ravines and peaks and its caverns, the snow that covers it in each season, the waterfalls falling into pools. when the glacier melts. To give you a glimpse of the greatness of the mountain I would have to go into a detailed description of every last corner. Even after the most detailed verbal explanation, you would have only a mental image to draw on. You still wouldn't KNOW the mountain.

If I talk about a hurricane, I can bring to your mind – trees bending towards the earth, bowed by the tremendous winds, walls crumbling, beams broken, bricks and roofs flying, windows shattered, cars overturned, huge trees uprooted, but never You will know the force and noise of that wind, the crash of falling masonry, or the terror that it generates in the hearts of the people who have to endure it, until you have experienced it yourself... And that is how I try to describe it to you, 'THAT' WHICH HAS GIVEN BEING TO ALL CREATION...You can only guess it, not know it.

It will only be after you have experienced everything I have told you – for yourself – that you will begin to have any idea of what I am trying to tell you. Therefore, let no one who reads my LETTERS argue with another, or deny the truth of what I am teaching you – or refute my words – for I truly tell you that you cannot know what you have not experienced.

It is only those who will follow me in acceptance and faith in daily meditation, in the purification of consciousness and in passionate prayer for enlightenment, who in the end will gain deeper and deeper glimpses – and then experiences – of that which the Creation itself can give access – to Divine Consciousness.

You may ask, what is the difference between Universal Consciousness and Divine Consciousness?

UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS is the UNIVERSAL KINGDOM of SPACE in which no one can enter or access, since IT remains in a state of balance and self-sufficient energy.

DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS is the re-union of the original IMPULSES that were within UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS that were released to become both the activity and the substance of creation at the moment of the BIG BANG.

These IMPULSES divided explosively and then reunited in a state of mutual control. They were also destined to work forever in the created realm or separate, manifested as energies or united, controlled in balance. It is only this realm of DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS that can be penetrated by science.

Perhaps the following paragraph will explain this more clearly:

UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS is the expression of the UNIVERSAL IMPULSES that were released to become both the activity and the substance of creation at the time of the BIG BAN.

BOOST from:

WILL to create in mutual restraint with the PURPOSE of expressing oneself
INTELLIGENCE in mutual restraint with LOVE

IMPULSE of INTELLIGENT WILL: Balance: IMPULSE of LOVING PURPOSE

Having given you this description in intellectual words of UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS, you will be no closer to being able to appreciate the sublime magnificence and greatness of Power, nor of the beauty, the joy, the harmony, the ecstasy contained in color and sound, beyond your dimension. Only we, who have ascended in vibratory frequencies of consciousness to the very portals or edges of the balance of UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS, are the ones who experience and can radiate the ecstasy of self-knowledge of true potential without desiring to realize it – the wonderful joy of personal fulfillment without 'lifting a finger'!

I use this last term metaphorically, since, although I retain my individuality, I am active only in consciousness and I am no longer active in any physical way and have not been since my continued spiritual ascension in other dimensions, after my death on the cross.

You may wonder how it is possible to have such enormous UNIVERSAL IMPULSES within a state of balance. They are in a state of equal and mutual control, the IMPULSE of LOVE that unites and nourishes holding and keeping the creative, active WILL under control.

I can only explain this phenomenon in the following simple terms:

If you place the palm of one hand on top of the palm of the other, with the pads of each hand touching the wrist of the other hand, and then try to separate them but keep them firmly smooth, one on top of the other, you will have some idea of the meaning of the 'balance' or 'mutual control'.

What's more, you must realize that although the hands are apparently expressing a physical phenomenon, they are actually governed by and expressing IMPULSES emanating from your brain. Furthermore, your brain may be the vehicle for expressing conscious ideas – impulses – but, in reality, the IMPULSE is the reality of all movement of any kind – not the physical brain, which is simply an instrument of expression of such impulses.

I have given you only an intellectual narrative of UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS. How can I describe to you the latent power, the magnificence of reverence, the ecstasy, the radiant bliss, the state of total contentment and peace and harmony of His Being?

Even if you could contemplate and understand that from this IMMENSITY of CONSCIOUSNESS the entire universe has taken life and form, you could not perceive more than one electron of the vast, immeasurable, Joyous Reality, which is UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS.

To fully understand the nature of creation: the reasons why the ego functions as it does, why created entities feel the impulses they do, one must understand that the NATURE and QUALITY of UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS is RADIANT JOY – REALIZATION. - HAPPINESS.

THIS IS WHAT I CALLED THE 'KINGDOM OF GOD INSIDE YOUR INSIDE INSIDE YOUR SOUL - INSIDE THE DEEPEST RECENTS OF YOUR PSYCHE, which is the intermediary between the radiance of your soul and the very shadow of the ego.

Returning to this transcendent state of being, glorious, beautiful, happy, harmonious, is the deepest longing of your soul!

It is this constant longing, this innate unconscious memory of balance and peace, bliss and harmony, that through the psyche prompts the EGO to manipulate the environment on your behalf. Its firm purpose is to return you to your original primordial state of glorious ecstasy, from which your soul, your being and your form were formed. But the ego can achieve your desired joy and pleasure only through the two magnetic/emotional impulses of Adhesion/Repulsion – which are only materialized impulses to provide you with your individuality.

Therefore, the innate longing to unite with the SOURCE of BEING is experienced in the electro-magnetic parameters of thought and feeling as 'More, more, more' than what gave you a pleasurable sensation previously... More friends, more house, car, clothes etc. Each time the 'more' has been achieved, there has been a small feeling of satisfaction, perhaps a 'show off' to the neighbors to praise happiness, gaining ground on them, and another small feeling of satisfaction, and then the novelty wears off, The new possession becomes prosaic, the senses calm down again – in balance – mental fatigue begins, the routine becomes nebulous (monotonous) and boring. To generate some life, the ego finds another goal to be achieved to provide excitement and pleasure. And so, life is an endless race of seeking personal satisfaction of various kinds, leaving the soul hidden, malnourished, unsatisfied still longing for something 'More' – but what is my deepest self longing for? you ask desperately. When a person manages to understand the true source of their emptiness and their continuous inner longing for 'more of what made me feel good' – and begins to meditate to contact...'THAT' THAT GAVE THEM THE BEING, a little of Divine Balance filters through human consciousness. The emptiness begins to decrease. If such a person truly glimpses something of the ETERNAL and the true goal of life, his longing for more possessions will slowly fade away. The desire for 'MORE' possessions will gradually be replaced by a sincere appreciation of what you already have and a sense of constant contentment. Through the experiences of miraculous interventions or activities of DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS in your daily life, human consciousness is greatly elevated and learns that your daily needs are best met. Faith increases and joy increases.

That's why I told you: I haven't come to teach you how to think positively to attract the things you want and need into your orbit. I have come expressly to direct you back to the Kingdom of Heaven.

However, it is not only in the matter of desiring more possessions for yourself that your soul is bound within its secret abode. The ego also uses the magnetic emotional impulse of 'repel - reject' to ensure your individuality, intimacy and security... This impulse takes various forms designed to give you a sense of superiority, or elitism that protects you from people you consider undesirable, or who has a lower social position than you. This egocentric impulse is continually practiced and has been thought perfectly acceptable even by the churches... The truth is: when the soul begins to gain a little control over the ego impulse, it will rebuke the human personality for its selfishness and exclusiveness. It will urge the psyche toward the adoption of unconditional love and belief in the universality and Oneness of all people, whoever they may be.

Perhaps, now, you can more easily understand how and why the creation of your individuality through the Ego formed the great capsule of 'physical impulses' that produced and enclosed your human consciousness – creating both your physical form and your human personality. Since it governs your mind, emotions, thoughts and feelings, it does not allow you to make contact with the SOURCE of your BEING and your SOUL.

YOUR TRUE PURPOSE in life is to dominate your ego, by longing in thought and feeling for 'THAT' THAT YOU PERCEIVE IS BEHIND CREATION and continually asking for illumination.

This is the very first step that a person must take towards that glorious moment when they will make contact with the DIVINE, and then advance through a continuous purification of the ego impulse, until re-entry into that 'heavenly state' from which your life was born. soul and took on his individuality.

And... How did the CREATION of INDIVIDUALITY happen?

As I said before, UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS reached a high point of mutual control and there was an explosion that tore and divided the: IMPULSE of the CREATIVE WILL from the IMPULSE of LOVING PURPOSES which separated and became active within creation as: Father Intelligence : Mother Love

Seen as:

Electricity: Magnetism 'Adhesion-Repulsion' Life
Gathered in balance as DIVINE LIFE CONSCIOUSNESS

Therefore, far from being solid and imponderable 'matter', -in reality- the visible world is:

Mind/Activity always working together with the Emotional/Magnetic Adhesion-Repulsion.

Also known as 'Attraction-Union'.

Father Intelligence: physical electricity and Mother Love: magnetic physical 'Adhesion-Rejection'

Together they produced a son - the EGO

born and took consistent and unalterable form within the energies of creation to ensure that the various electrical forces expressed as protons and electrons and the rest of the group of particles excitedly discovered by science did not fly away without interruption in a distant and formless state, but were controlled by the magnetic IMPULSE 'Adhesion-Rejection' of Mother Love to reach the manifestation of a form.

Science may dispute the above paragraphs, as it has had great difficulty in describing the various 'adhesion processes' by applying various terms to the adhesion energies. Science is welcome to call the energies of 'adhesion or attraction' whatever term it wants, but the fact remains that these energies have taken form from the primordial and great IMPULSE of MOTHER LOVE whose PRIMORDIAL function of CONSCIOUSNESS is to give form to individuality.

THE IMPULSE of the 'Father Intelligent Life' provides the electrical impetus to creation.

The IMPULSE of the 'Mother Loving Purpose' provides the adhesion to restrain the electrical impetus and bring it under control within an individuality.

The 'Loving Purpose Mother' IMPULSE also provides the 'repulsion/rejection' impulse to ensure the survival of individuality.

Esto – es el proceso de la creación.

Science can only approach creation as a spectator. Although its ambassadors are human and experience life in themselves, the human mind can only observe what has been created. It cannot enter the intimate processes of creation hidden in 'matter' and the most basic fields of energy.

Science will never be able to identify the MOTIVING FACTOR X since it gives rise to the energies that control the creation of the individual form. But what science has to say on the matter of creation is of no importance to you as an individual. Science will not change one bit about your lifestyle, your health, your environment, your personal feelings and achievements.

What you need to know – and what I have come expressly to tell you – is how to escape the egocentric possessive-protective impulse that the EGO provides you to ensure your individuality and survival and your built-in longing to return to the joy and happiness from which all creation took LIFE.

This gives you the explanation of why I came to earth in the first place and why I come at this present moment – to do something that no scientist can ever do for you – help your soul emerge from the confines of your impulse – egocentric and embark on a new 'life for your thoughts and emotions' program that will directly express the 'Life of Consciousness-Father-Mother' that was injected into you and all of humanity at the moment of conception. Since the ego itself possesses the electrical impulse of Activity-Creativity and the emotional magnetic impulses of 'Adhesion - Rejection' whatever is born from the 'egocentric impulse' through its thoughts, feelings and actions, will be charged with physical electro-life. magnetic that will reproduce identical life forms and eventually materialize in the life of the creator ego.

These created forms do not manifest only as experiences but also disorder the functioning of the physical processes of their creator and are the origin of physical discomfort, viruses or illness...

Therefore, it is a cause of great rejoicing when the soul emerges from the human consciousness of the ego that has encapsulated it, since the ascending spiritual consciousness will create the harmonious conditions that will give it the life proper to that consciousness. Conversely, it is a cause of sadness as long as human consciousness is submerged under the control of the ego, producing discord and tribulations both in life experiences and in the physical condition itself... Therefore, I tell you: if you do not like your world, you have within you the power to change your 'conditions of existence', right where you are, if you have the faith and constant will to do so.

I repeat it in another way to gain your attention...

If you continue at your current level of human thought and functioning, you will only experience your current level of human existence...

You will be forced to work hard for a miserable life, plagued by numerous problems, such as poverty and ill health, addictions, immobilized by prostrate fears, and exposed to malicious attacks of all kinds...

You will be carrying your current conditions until you understand how to change them...

This is your golden opportunity to take control of your life like never before by achieving control of your thoughts and emotions – your electrical and magnetic impulses – which are the blueprints for your future experiences...

Well – you are like a potter who owns clay and daily shapes vessels and utensils for use...

CONSCIOUSNESS is the clay – the substance with which you make your life – and every condition pertinent to it... You, alone, mold your life into the forms you experience...

With your thoughts you can change your personal future, if you only listen to my words, understand your true origins, believe in them and use this knowledge in your daily routine...

You can affect your environment, your home, family, work, the people you associate with, even plants, animals and the weather.

What you resolutely keep in mind is what is externalized.

Therefore, it is crucial for your personal, human and spiritual development that you fully understand everything I am trying to teach you.

Do not think that these Letters that I present to you are too difficult to understand and then move to an easier way to find happiness.

Believe me – there is no TRUE easier way for you to find the balance and happiness you seek – because my words describe the UNIVERSAL TRUTH of EXISTENCE and LIFE with which you are currently building or destroying your life.

At the same time – you can be sure that you will never be able to create new conditions for yourself until you discover WHY and HOW you have been creating negative and destructive conditions in the past.

Everything you now experience, you have created and put into motion with thoughts, words and actions from the past. So do not be bitter about your present circumstances, since you yourself have done what was later the cause of your present conditions.

Be sensible, then, and read these Letters and devote all your strength and will to discovering the means you have used (in your previous ignorance) to spoil your life long ago.

Then take the necessary steps to purify your consciousness.

You may wonder: “Why should I purify my consciousness?”

I'm telling you – YOU – you would never plant a corn field without first plowing the land and then putting in the machinery to soften the soil and spread the fertilizer... If you didn't know it, you could plant among the existing weeds, in uneven ground and Skip the fertilizer and your harvest would be meager and uneven. That's how it is when you make do with your egocentric earthly thoughts and live entirely with your own knowledge, strength and human will. You are limited in everything you do... And, unknowingly, you create the very circumstances that will limit the harvest of your efforts.

The moment you realize where you really come from, seek the Power on which you can rely to accomplish all things in your life, and take urgent steps to clear away all the weeds, thus purifying the land of your consciousness, You will find inspiration in the POWER that will imbue and prosper your daily experiences and activities.

You could say that POWER is your fertilizer but this would be inaccurate and false.

Fertilizer is an inanimate chemical food for plants – while the POWER from which you can receive everything through daily meditation, is the LIFE that will invigorate your entire being, your life, even your plants and the bricks of your house and your team, far beyond your current belief...

People who have given all their willpower to living this truth see the undeniable fruits in their lives and, upon seeing them, their faith and determination increase... Thus, they enter a circle of blessings... They marvel that others may resist this truth, and may choose to remain outside the earthly and spiritual harmony in which it is possible to live...

If you are willing to listen, ponder and meditate... in the following pages, you will begin to understand what has been hidden since the beginning of creation.

"PURIFYING CONSCIOUSNESS"

As you do all the work necessary for mental/emotional purification, use my words from the previous pages that describe....THAT....WHAT HAS BROUGHT YOU

TO YOU AND THE WHOLE EARTH TO BE VISIBLE BEINGS, to build a state of consciousness (Knowledge) and contact with YOUR powerful DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS.

From that contact will come the inspiration and strength to carry out the most purification.

quickly. As the purification takes place, you will experience new happiness and fulfillment in every facet of your life.

You will also receive inspired instructions for your daily life, either during meditation or as a ray of light in your mind when you are at peace and thinking about some routine matter. If you do not discard or reject these instructions, but follow them – faithfully and carefully – you will be taking your first steps to become – in the end – a great sower and harvester of very successful creative ideas in your environment... Everything that is Connected with you it will flourish and prosper. Everything will respond to you and bless you with new life... If you discipline yourself to meditate daily with unwavering devotion, eventually you will begin to feel a response and influence from THAT which GAVE YOU THE BEING and the words you use will take on new meaning... The words will be imbued with UNIVERSAL LIFE.

You will be filled with joy and rejoice exceedingly, because then you will KNOW that the power is real and active in your mind and in your life...

You will come to depend more and more confidently on the power that begins to manifest in your affairs.

You will want to attract others to your blessed state of harmony as others will notice and ask you about it. Not only that – you will be experiencing a new brotherly love and will want to share what makes you happy with others.

It will never be too much to insist on this Truth, this need to meditate, since many people let go of the search and self-discipline of daily listening before having completely purified their consciousness and having reached that state of inner purification so necessary to do perfect contact with UNIVERSAL CONSCIOUSNESS – the Source of Your Being.

When you make contact – phenomena occur that seem like miracles to the human eye! This is the beginning of Universal Power taking shape in your soul, body, mind, heart and circumstances. I'm telling you truly – you can trust my words implicitly – if you persevere, the time will come when you really feel the contact and know that you have made contact.

Then you will have reached the most crucial moment in your spiritual/human development!

For a few hours many souls feel so elevated and joyful, but then daily affairs intrude on their minds and rationalize the experience. They explain it in human terms.

Don't do that – you will lose what you have been given! You will greatly slow down your progress.

If you read these words and are afraid to believe them, or believe them to be foolish, or feel that you will lose face if you believe them – you will be producing a creative form in your consciousness that will negate any constructive response you may have originally had when reading this LETTER.

So I tell you – cherish your moments of faith, preserve your special moments of contact with – 'THAT' – WHAT GAVE YOU THE BEING, believe in them and keep them safe in your consciousness and you will gradually advance towards the heights of consciousness.' spiritual', towards a great inner vision and a great joy.

Again I say, do not depart from these LETTERS. I cannot stress enough the need to think about them, to remember what they say. If you don't remember, reread them again and again, again and again, again and again, until they have been absorbed into your consciousness.

The more you meditate on them daily, the more they will become clearer in your mind and they will come to have more and more meaning for you. In the end, you will see that they will have gone like food and drink, building your morale and determination to help you convert your current conditions into those of harmony, broad growth, prosperity and peace.

Great inspiration and joy will be yours when you come to realize that the immensity of 'THAT THAT GAVE YOU THE BEING' is a radiant Power of sublime ecstasy – beyond your ability to dream and imagine – is The Reality – IT is the SOURCE of BEING – the SOURCE of everything you see in your natural living world and on many levels of existence beyond that in which you currently inhabit.

When you are abundantly receiving Divine Consciousness in your mind, in yourself, in every facet of your existence, then you will begin to see the enormous difference, you will remember the moments of stress and unhappiness again and you will see that gradually the limitations of your life will have given way. to greater blessings.

This becomes a continuous process in your life. Be of good heart – Truly it is I, the CHRIST, who is reaching you and the world through the Channel of these LETTERS. I especially want to impress upon your mind the way I have purposely made statements in the preceding pages to elevate your thoughts to a higher level of consciousness, by describing the benefits that can come to you by working on raising your consciousness by getting rid of tendencies. negatives mentioned on page No. 2.

I want you to fully realize that I have come only to help you get rid of the unwanted ego-driven thoughts and emotions that currently control your mind. I am also here expressly to encourage you and 'help' you – yes, to 'help you – to develop in your mind and heart all the love-based thoughts and emotions that will bring you into harmony with Divine Consciousness. It is my most urgent and loving purpose to bring you out of the gray shadows of existence in which you presently dwell, – and into the 'sun' of spiritual enlightenment that awaits you when you have conquered the impulses of the ego and become united with your soul and 'Father - Mother - Life' and you have entered into the harmony of unconditional love for all.

Therefore I will repeat the list of negative characteristics exposed on the page No. 2... I want you to read them carefully and observe your own reactions and feelings as you review them slowly.

"Criticism, Sarcasm, Judging, Rejecting, Denigrating, Generating Enmity, Intolerance, Hatred, Jealousy, Aggression, Violent Impulses, Theft, Falsehoods, Deceptive and Double-Sided Treatment, Defamation".

How do you begin to get rid of any of these, which you know are part of your consciousness?

Do not be too embarrassed when faced with them, since you are a human being and have been born under the influence of these ego characteristics. So don't be afraid or too discouraged when facing them. Take the first step with complete honesty and write them down!

The second step is to take the paper and lie down, placing it on your chest! Close your eyes and turn in thought to the Divine Reality – the Source of your Being which, you must now recognize, is your loving Procreator – your true 'Spiritual Father – Mother' – who generously and continuously and consistently radiates the UNCONDITIONAL LOVE of FATHER MOTHER. Give yourself time to quiet your mind until you feel like you are moving beyond your own awareness.

Then ask for help in perfect faith and expect an immediate response since you are operating in consciousness, to remove, dissolve and overcome the false and unnecessary rejection impulses of the ego in all the days to come... Emotionally you make it clear to your 'Father Spiritual' or 'Divine Reality' – and therefore yourself – that you no longer want these negative egocentric attitudes in your consciousness... You ask for inspiration and power to strive to avoid and deny them, from that day forward. By doing this, you are creating a NEW FORM of CONSCIOUSNESS that now begins to infiltrate and replace your current consciousness. YOUR INTENTION becomes your reality.

The previous negative characteristics that are written on your paper and taken to your 'Spiritual Father' are now in the limbo of rejection of your consciousness. This conscious rejection is also the means of bringing Divine Power into your consciousness to help strengthen your resolve and to remind you to discard any impulses that may erupt the rejected characteristics. Therefore, as you probably see – surrender and meditation have set in motion a hidden activity of consciousness, of which you will probably be unaware until you later realize that the characteristics have disappeared. I sincerely recommend that you take the paper with the characteristics to meditation several times. Each time you do so, you will attract to your own consciousness another injection of the power of 'Father - Mother - Life' to your purpose of overcoming and ridding your consciousness of unwanted forces and forms of consciousness. When they have been dissolved, shadows will no longer attract your circumstances.

negative and unhappy thoughts that plagued you before. You will be headed on a higher wave towards freedom.

As you progress, you will come to perceive small lacks of consciousness in your mind and heart that before never seemed to be wrong and when that happens, you must go through the same procedure of writing them down and bringing them with all faith to your 'Spiritual Father'. Now there is one more thing you must do to complete this reconstruction of your consciousness.

Instead of: Criticism, sarcasm, judging, rejecting, denigrating, generating enmity, intolerance, hatred, jealousy, aggression, violent impulses, theft, falsehoods, deceptive treatment and double-sided, defamation. You should write on paper in gold letters if possible, to give a sense of beauty and brilliance to the attributes – the golden qualities of the Divine Consciousness that you wish to possess – and express – in the future.

To be in perfect harmony with your 'Divine Reality' – your 'Spiritual Father', each attribute will be founded on unconditional love and promote the highest good of others... For you will no longer seek to humiliate others in order to make you feel bigger and more sure of yourself... Your entire consciousness will be directed towards affirming others and building everything in your orbit. You will seek to nurture, feed, teach, protect, maintain, and satisfy the needs of others, and you will seek to lovingly establish order in senseless chaotic actions.

Having written your golden aspirations on paper, again lie down and turn to your 'Divine Reality' and ask that the precious impulses - the nature of the Divine gradually spread through your mind and heart and become your own consciousness. When this happens, your soul will be like a chick that pecks and pecks until it breaks its shell to go out into the wonder of the big world to join the mother hen who waits patiently until her chick joins her.

This is how it has been with me and with all the other Christ souls. We wait, observe and help people who long to find out the cause of the emptiness of their spirit, who have put it in their hearts to transcend earthly pursuits as their ultimate desire, whose minds are being drawn to higher purposes in life and who dream of enter into perfect harmony with their own souls and with the DIVINE SOURCE of their BEING. We lovingly long for the existence of these spiritual walkers more than the walkers themselves can even suspect... This means that we have a loving longing for you, who is reading this Letter.

When you are once again reunited with the Source of your Being, you will have achieved your true purposes on earth. You will have fulfilled your true mission in eternity! And now – let your REAL LIFE begin! You will have entered the Kingdom of Heaven. I will not tell you what qualities to write for your new consciousness – these must come from your highest and best current perceptions... Again study the Divine Nature of the Divine Consciousness that I perceived so clearly in the desert and that I described to you in Letter N °1. Let this Divine Nature be your own nature!

I want you to know that when you embark on this journey with true sincerity, I will be by your side in every eventuality. It is my deepest wish that you come to know that I am with you and that I am sending you support and strength in your quest to unify with your 'Divine Reality'. "ABOUT CHRISTIANITY"

Now I'm about to talk to you about more mundane matters, and as you read the following pages, I want you to review what is happening to your mood or sense of well-being. This is an exercise to recognize what is happening in your consciousness as your thoughts change and you use a new set of words.

Please read the following pages very carefully, regardless of whether you profess Christian doctrine or not, even if you have a strong temptation to skip them. Write down your responses, ideas, feelings – especially any changing feelings of depression or pleasure, delight, or pleasure. Take note of the page number, when the words begin to lighten your spirits and lift you to a higher plane of peace and happiness. This is a most important exercise, for unless you do it, you will continue to read about 'consciousness' forever, but you will never achieve a deep understanding of what the basic energy of your existence, of 'matter,' is like. of body and environment, the events of your life, your STATE OF MOOD and your spiritual aspirations. You will not come to realize that CONSCIOUSNESS is the only thing and everything in your existence and experience – until you notice how 'ideas and opinions' can raise or lower the vibratory frequencies of your consciousness. I want you to become aware of the words you use in your daily life, the quality of life they generate for you and the impact they have on others, whether by lifting their spirits and giving them peace and joy or leaving them depressed and empty. What is more, it is my sincere intention to reach out to those of you who are currently ascribed to the Christian religion and who are struggling with past or present religious conditioning and thus having difficulty in breaking out of your perceptions of dogma, in order to to move freely within the finer vibrational frequencies of higher spiritual knowledge. You may fear being condemned even for reading these pages – but they still have a powerful attraction for you and you feel, intuitively, that you are reading about the TRUTH of EXISTENCE, which your ministers have not taught you. You are torn between your pressing need to know the Truth and the fear of displeasing 'God' in whatever way you currently perceive 'HIM'. • I, the CHRIST, am well aware of the distress these LETTERS cause to many sincere people and I long to help you through your restlessness to perfect peace and joy of mind.

For this reason, it is a pressing need to first analyze your current beliefs and the origins of the doctrines of the church before continuing to teach you the deeper Truth about the 'nature' of the Universal and the nature of man himself.

To fully understand the origins of Christian doctrine, you must go back in time to the beginnings of Judaism and there find the rationalizations of the human mind struggling to define in words what was intuitively felt to be a probable source of being. Those of you who are struggling to free yourself from past myths and erroneous beliefs must come to clearly perceive for yourselves – and understand – the fundamental difference between 'the belief of the church' and the TRUTH of EXISTENCE that I am currently trying to explain to you. . Until you can discern the 'origin and form of your present beliefs' you will not be able to completely free yourself from the illusions of your past conditioning within the church. You will have a 'foot in both camps' – a position that is dangerous to be in. This state of mind will give rise to great mental conflict and may cause you to abandon the search and return to the old comfortable and emotionally safe religious ways that get you nowhere. So be careful not to be intimidated by threats of displeasing 'God' and possible damnation. THE ORIGINS OF A BELIEF IN AN 'INDIVIDUAL SUPER DEITY' Therefore, we will begin with a description of the origins of a belief in 'God', a name that has meant many different things to humanity.

This belief began when the ancient Hebrews walked the desert plains and wondered about the origins of creation. They imagined that somehow the SOURCE of CREATION must surely be an invisible and very transcendent "superhuman god-man" of the earth and humanity... Some of the ancient prophets were aware, in a mystical way, that The source of creation was widespread and present – in some way – throughout creation and also situated in the eternal dimension, but this mysticism was not available to the common human mind. You must also understand that despite the 'apparent reality' in your mind of such a 'God' from your Bible readings, no one has ever glimpsed such a 'super human man-god' in any form except perhaps Moses who claimed to have seen HIM in a 'burning bush' who described himself as 'I am what I am'. Everything that has been known about such a "super-human god" has been derived from readings of the picturesque descriptions of 'God' given by the prophets during his stay on earth. It is a hallmark of how illusory religious beliefs are that ministers turn only to the ancients to cite their 'truth' since they cannot believe that 'God' is truly real, eternal and equally capable of speaking to people in the days current of this era. Your ministers are terrified of any belief that does not combine with the old ones. They never consider – or are afraid to consider – that perhaps the spiritual knowledge, within the earthly dimension – it is evolutionary!

I want you to 'see' that a 'web of beliefs', a mixture of rationalizations and beliefs, has been forged to make a mental/emotional safety net with which to entangle and trap people's minds and hearts. Everything that is taught to people in the Christian faith is based on emotion and emanates from things heard from early accounts of my life and death on earth. However, they believe in fanaticism. Christians are taught that 'God is Love – and that God is aware of your sins and that He punishes, disciplines and rewards the good and sends misfortune to the bad.' This is an accurate description of human activity and consciousness!

Christians are taught that I, the Christ, in the person of Jesus 'died for the sins of the world'. I was the 'blameless lamb of God, sacrificed to pay the price for the sin of the people!' I made a supreme sacrifice of myself, to accomplish this strange feat of 'paying for sin' through the ages.

I entered the body again after death by crucifixion and appeared many times in the body to comfort and teach my disciples who were grieving. I even ate food during my appearances to them. After forty days. I ascended out of the sight of my disciples, raising my body to 'heaven!' As I asked in LETTER N°3, What would I do with a human body in 'heaven' – in the afterlife?

For I said at my last supper that my disciples should remember my last meal with them, breaking the bread and passing it to each other and that they should each drink from the same cup of wine and remember that my body was crucified and my blood poured out for To bring you the truth of being, this incident became a strange belief in which, with pomp and ceremony at the altar, my body is transferred to hosts that communicants must swallow with due reverence. My body! What good would my 'body' – spiritualized or not – do for the communicant?

Can you see how the mind can be conditioned to accept illogical nonsense that can last almost two thousand years because it has been backed by a great Hierarchy of Popes and Cardinals living in palaces, with immense wealth and maintained in earthly pomp and prestigious ceremonial circumstances? ?.

I want you to know the truth about that fateful night – the one you call my last Supper. Although it is painful to do so, for the sake of greater clarity, I have lowered myself to the very vibrational frequencies of the conscious memories of my thoughts and feelings during my last meal with my disciples. Although he was a strong, enlightened man, and sure that he had a destiny to fulfill that he could not avoid – I did not want to avoid – he was also deeply hurt when the meal began – the Passover meal. My disciples had been my friends and had supported me during some difficult circumstances. I was sad to have to leave them and fearful for their well-being. What would happen to them when they found themselves alone without my guidance and protection? They had depended on me, more than they knew. I remembered my years teaching people. I felt a deep sense of irony as I remembered my return from the desert, dirty, neglected, but literally possessed by my joyful concern for my fellow human beings and intensely excited because now I could direct them correctly, implant in their minds the truth regarding existence, show them how to overcome his fears, his illnesses, his poverty and misery... He was going to conquer the world!.

But how different everything had turned out! Tomorrow he would hang on a cross! It was true, however, that he had achieved a lot of success. I reflected on the moments of healing and the joyful welcome of the 'Loving Father' people. I could understand why the High Priest and the Council hated me. Instead of fear, punishment and animal sacrifices, he had brought to people the reality of 'FATHER - LOVE'. And he had demonstrated it by curing terminal cases. I turned my attention to my disciples, who were talking among themselves while eating. They were still unaware of the challenge that awaited me – my crucifixion. Although I had warned them, they refused to accept my words as truth. They thought he was afraid of the High Priest and wondered why. He had managed to get out of threatening situations before. As was customary at Passover, they spoke of the circumstances surrounding the Israelites' flight from Egypt. John, who was highly imaginative, was giving them a colorful account (he told it in great detail) of Moses gathering the Israelites and telling them that they would finally leave Egypt. Escaping from his life of slavery to freedom in the desert!. For this reason Moses went to the head of each family to kill a spotless lamb and with a handful of herbs paint the door frame of their house with the blood. Moses said that angels would come flying, at night, through Egypt, killing the firstborn of all the Egyptians and their livestock, leaving only the firstborn of the Israelites who would be saved by blood at their doorposts. As I listened to them, seeing their smiles and nodding their heads at this 'wonderful' event, I realized with anguish how little they had really understood of my description of 'Heavenly Father'. I heard John's words concerning: Blood, blood, blood, blood of the spotless lamb, blood on the doorposts, blood of the Egyptian children and cattle. As always I marveled at the centuries of Jewish concern for blood and briefly recalled that Abraham was even willing to kill his only son with the intention of offering him as a sacrifice because he believed God had told him to do so. And then I thought about the daily animal sacrifices in the temple. To me, the whole concept of 'letting blood' as a means of paying for 'sin' was an absolute abomination. But I stayed silent and did not argue with the men. I realized that their minds were filled with these traditions, as solid and durable as rock. This was our last dinner together, our last meal together all at one table. It should be a moment of peace between us and a loving farewell. Doubly momentous for my disciples, because Passover was such a sacred event for their Jewish minds and they would have to accept this in a spirit of love and understanding. Before, I had not celebrated Easter, since the tradition made me sick. I preferred to go quietly into the hills to meditate, leaving my disciples to celebrate Easter with their families. Because of my previous attitudes, they were not surprised by my current silence. Now I was half lying, half sitting, unable to relax as I usually did – tense, tense, affable and compassionate toward my disciples – yet displeased by them. I wondered how I could leave these followers sleepy and confused, an effective sign as a reminder, some rite to bring back to their confused minds everything I had tried to teach them. He wanted to shake them out of their mania for blood. As I listened to their conversation about Moses and his various miraculous activities, it occurred to me that if they were so concerned about blood – well, I would give them blood by which they would remember me. I leaned over the table, picked up a loaf and tore it into several pieces and said rather abruptly: 'I am like your Paschal lamb. Pass it around you, take your share, eat and do this in commemoration of me, who has brought you the only TRUTH the world has ever heard. Let this bread be a symbol of my body that is about to be broken on the cross. They stopped talking and looked at me intently. 'Come on, eat!' I told them. As if in a dream, they calmly took some of the bread and passed it to each other, chewing a little of it. Then I took the large glass of wine and told them to drink from it and pass it from one to another. 'This wine is a symbol of my blood. I came to give you the TRUTH. The Truth about God – the Truth about life. But I have been rejected. My blood will flow for you.' Again, in silence, they drank from the cup and passed it to the man next to them. Their faces were tense but they said nothing. It was obvious that everyone was shocked by my words and didn't like them. I knew that money had been given to Judas to point me to the High Priest's soldiers when the time was right... I also knew that the night of the Passover would be the night. I said to Judas: "Go quickly and do what you have to do." Judas looked at me for a long time and I saw the pain and indecision in his eyes. I was hesitating but my time had come and I wanted to get it over with. 'Go' I said harshly. Judas got up and left the room. The disciples were surprised by the way he spoke and asked what Judas was going to do. 'He goes to the High Priest to tell him where to find me. They are going to crucify me – exactly as I told you. I looked at the various expressions on their faces, doubt, shock, terror, with a degree of odorous cynicism. Then there was a burst of resentful questioning. What was going to happen to them?... They had left home and family for me. They would lose a life of freedom and security. If I were crucified like a common criminal. I told them they were going to abandon me. They vehemently denied any such thing – but they did it. I was too tired to argue with them, and I had become so strong, so secure in the knowledge that the 'Father' was within and with me at all times, that I could forgive their disloyalty. And, at the end of it all, I would be freed from my body and could ascend into the realms of Light that I had so often felt, but never fully seen with earthly vision. It was a thought that brought me deep comfort and a happy feeling of anticipation.

So I smiled at them and said, 'It is good that you have done what I asked in commemoration of me and my coming death. Continue breaking the bread and drinking the wine together remembering that I have always loved you and that I will stay with you in spirit until you join me where I am going. Do not fear, you will be guided, you will be inspired, you will be strengthened and you will speak with clear, clear voices. My only warning is this. In the future, much of what I have taught you will be forgotten... Much of what I have told you will be discarded by human thinking or distorted by human myths. Then there was panic and a cry: "How will this be?" I smiled and raised my hands: "I have told you what will happen in the distant future... In the meantime, be true to everything I have taught you and do not doubt any word I have spoken to you."

Then it was time to go to the Mount of Olives, the place where the High Priest's soldiers would look for me. My disciples wanted to ask me more questions, but I had already finished my speech with the men... I only wanted to prepare in total silence for my torture, moving in spirit to a state of safe and consistent attunement and communication with the 'Father'. We walked to the garden and I retreated to my favorite rock. Sheltered from the wind I sat down and wrapped myself in the robe... I closed my eyes and gradually felt myself entering into a great inner stillness of spirit and a powerful silence... Then the Power itself descended, embraced me and possessed my mind! and my heart!... It filled me with such supreme love, that I knew I was being supported and sustained in Love and that I could keep my love for everyone, no matter what happened to me!... That was all What mattered at that moment when my time had come! That is the truth behind breaking the bread and drinking the wine in commemoration of me, my life and my teachings... And, like you who are reading this LETTER You know, everything that my 'Father' made known to me on my last night on earth came to pass. Because I spoke of the 'Father', the 'Son' and the 'Holy Spirit', the Church decided at the Council of Nicaea that I must have been referring to 'Three Persons in One'... Therefore, people They pray to the 'Father' for benefits, they implore the 'Holy Spirit' to instruct them spiritually and they pray to the 'Son' to save them from their sins. Do you begin to 'see' how 'earthly and humanly conceived' these beliefs are?... Do you also see how 'emotionally based' they are? Because of sentimentality and the promise of a 'free ride to heaven at the heels of the Savior', the beliefs have become a religious structure humanly conceived to enthrone an empire of the Church within the earthly empires - Rome, Austria, Spain. They have been the excuse for systematic torture, death at the stake and the execution of dissidents. They have inspired wars between nations. But the 'spiritual insight' and 'creativity' that have arisen from some of the beliefs have also contributed much to existence in the past two millennia. These beliefs have been the reasons for the construction of cathedrals and churches, monasteries and convents, giving a stable purpose to people, the ability to express their artistic gifts and work to those with less talent... The beliefs have also directed consciousness of millions of people into higher realms of love and beautiful thought. They have even been the impetus behind mysticism and enlightenment, when spiritual souls have come to see the Reality that was previously hidden by their beliefs. While this has been occurring, beliefs have also created the conditions for the development of degrees of religious superiority and untold grandeur and wealth. These beliefs are edifices humanly conceived and created with the impulses of the ego and therefore are totally illegitimate from a spiritual point of view. The TRUTH regarding 'SIN' It must also be understood that throughout the centuries, people perceived that certain facets of human behavior were detrimental to the well-being of others... They witnessed murders, theft of women and possessions , causing pain and grief in the community, making life difficult and sometimes intolerable. It was reasoned that surely this behavior must be contrary to the will of what they called 'God'. They gave this behavior the name 'sin' and it was called 'evil'. Over time the prophets reasoned that such aberrant behavior must emanate from a 'malevolent' force against God and called him 'Satan'. punished each other in the belief that 'sins' were evil and that their 'God' would punish men for their evils against each other. This behavior is practiced to this day in churches. Ministers try to control people through fear. THE CONCEPT of 'Sin' against Jehovah... the Eternal and infinitely Powerful Creator... was a skillful and powerful method of controlling others. The beliefs of the church are a tragic farce of everything I tried to teach the people in Palestine. Moses first enshrined belief in 'sin' and 'punishment' in the form of the Ten Commandments. Moses said that they had been given by 'God' and that if the Israelites broke them they would have to suffer the penalty – in some cases, this meant death by stoning. They were taught that by breaking the Laws, the Israelites would be sinning against their 'God'. The exact truth is that Moses went to the mountain to pray, asking for a way to control the rebellious Israelites... In response to this prayer, he was inspired to be given the Ten Commandments to help him in his task of leading the Israelites. safely in their sojourn through the desert with the least degree of fuss. Religious people accept and believe wholeheartedly in a 'God' who, they say, instructed Moses to establish aggressive processes and massacres when conquering the 'promised land'. A beautiful and productive land was unfortunately taken from hard-working people who were murdered by the thousands. This was considered the right thing for them to do since 'God' had promised them a precious land to settle in. To this day, religious people believe that since 'God' spoke to Moses, it must have been 'God' who decreed the subsequent bloodshed. There are many similar horrendous descriptions of war and bloodshed in your Bible that are considered permissible, just and correct – because it was believed that 'God' had ordered them to go to war – against the Gentiles. Can you not see in the history of the Jews, the rampant EGO DRIVE in which even 'God' is used to excuse them from all blame? At the time of self-aggrandizement it became permissible and equitable to ignore the Ten Commandments and indulge in systematic massacre. They believed that it did not involve any sin because the slaughter had been ordered by 'God'. Go 'God'! Can you not also perceive why it was necessary for me to be born in Palestine to live among the Jews in an effort to help them see that their traditional beliefs and practices were all contrary to the very Nature of DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS which had truly given them Being? Since then, throughout the centuries, men have struggled with the concept of 'sin' and many sincere people have been distressed about the way in which they offend 'God' and ask for forgiveness... Long ago, they sacrificed countless animals in the temple of Jerusalem to appease 'God', hoping to escape the effects of their sins. Since that time countless books have been written on the subject, expressing sorrow and horror at the condition of men's souls, seeking ways to change their behavior, lashing themselves with whips to torture the flesh and make it pay for its evil thinking, word or deed, and many of these books have been applauded by 'Christians' throughout Europe and kept in the archives of religious institutions. They tie people to my former persona of 'Jesus', preaching the 'salvation of man from the punishment for his sins' through my death on the cross. As I have explained elsewhere, these beliefs are physically impossible and contrary to the facts of creation. No payment is exacted for 'sinning' by any higher 'Deity'... This is an entirely human – and pagan – concept... All bloodshed of any kind for the purpose of carrying out religious rites is paganism. . The Christian Church has presented its followers with nothing less than a 'glorified' version of paganism. When people make others unhappy... in any way, they are creating their own future 'back'... Not as retribution but as an activity of creation consciousness. Therefore, it is a matter of urgency that these beliefs in 'sin' and 'salvation through my death on the cross' must be strongly combated - and replaced - by the spiritual understanding that is being given to you in these LETTERS. Before leaving this topic of religious doctrines, I want to make it clear that some spiritual seekers within the Christian Church, through the ages, have purified their consciousness enough to become strongly aware of the 'Power' they have called 'God'. and have come to recognize that the 'Source of Being' is not as the Church teaches. But only a few have become spiritually evolved enough to move beyond the parameters of religious beliefs, to feel the influence of 'Power' since the vast majority of people can only conceive the Truth within a certain terminology. earthly. I, the CHRIST, have to tell you that until this moment, none of all the 'saints' have even glimpsed the reality of creation and the truth behind human behavior as I am presenting it to you now. The time has come, surely, when you must be told the truth about 'sin' and human behavior and what people are currently doing to the world and to themselves - on condition that you have completely abandoned the old myths of religious doctrine and that you are currently enthusiastic, receptive, and gladly opening your heart fully to the realities of existence. If you are none of these things, then what I have to tell you will not make any sense to you. Believe me – you cannot mix your old religious beliefs with the Truth of Existence. If you try, you can be sure that you will not be seeing the Truth but your own adaptation of what you think you have gained from these pages. If you continue the search for the Truth of Existence, but remain in a divided state of conviction, you may continue the search at great cost to yourself, torn by indecision, fear and a continuing inability to perceive the true meaning of the new teaching. Your developing perceptions will be partially obscured by 'messages' arising from the old conditioning of your conscious and subconscious mind. You may not realize the enormity of such a problem right now, but it is a tremendous problem because your current deep beliefs are your current truth upon which you build your life. They are your reality. Your strongly held convictions and beliefs may be completely illusory, but if you believe in them fully in your subconscious, they become absolutely real to you. No matter how striking any new idea that contradicts your beliefs may be to your attention, your consciousness will be divided and will give you tremendous discomfort, even anguish. Remember – your consciousness is the fabric with which you craft your life. This fabric of consciousness is the background of every response of yours to everything that happens in your mental, emotional and physical life. Your consciousness is your reality. This statement can be expressed in two ways, both being the truth of your existence. Your consciousness creates your reality, regardless of what the facts of your earthly life are. When people believed the earth was flat, they were afraid to venture too far into the ocean, lest the ship fall over the edge. People who believed in a flat earth lived according to that belief.

When Galileo said that the earth was round he was considered a heretic, but his Perception of 'the roundness of the earth' allowed sailors to gain a new vision of the world and undertake voyages to discover what was on the other side of the ocean. A change in their belief was required to make this possible. You are in a similar situation regarding these LETTERS. Those who dismiss and ridicule them are like people who believed in a flat earth and were afraid of falling on the shore if they sailed too far west or east from their known environment... Their horizons were seriously limited by their false beliefs... Thus, the horizons of those who believe that the world is solid are also severely restricted. Day after day, they lament and grieve over the misfortunes that have befallen the world, believing that there is no escape. But the people who can grasp and welcome the Truth of Consciousness that I am presently presenting to the world will be like those who perceived that travel over the oceans could be carried out without limits in all directions, provided that had the will to undertake such a journey. Therefore, your state of consciousness is the most important consideration in your life. Pay attention to your conscience and all the blessings will come to you in all aspects of your life. Through your consciousness, you are nourished with inner love, harmony, joy and beauty, even in the alleys of a slum. With such awareness, you will find that you will be moved from the streets of the slum to an environment more in line with your inner being. From the above, you should be able to see now that only you create the quality of your internal world... even if externally you find yourself in prison or in command of a battleship! And you can enhance your environment by radiating it with the life force that animates your thinking. And again, your consciousness is your reality, not your husband or your wife, not your children, home, garden, possessions, titles, workplace, friends... Well, whatever place your people and your possessions occupy in your consciousness – good or bad – this 'place' is just your personal perception of them. The 'reality' of these people is not truly known to anyone. No one has access to the innate goodness hidden in an apparently negative character. Conversely, no one can suspect the hidden impulses and desires of an apparently good human being. Your external life only affects your consciousness. It does not create or determine your conscious responses. You are the 'creator' of your responses. Your type of creation depends entirely on your deepest perceptions and beliefs regarding existence. What's more, you can, at any time, choose to gradually dismantle your old inner world, in order to create a more harmonious inner realm of growing love, vitality and joy, even though your outer 'objects', people or possessions remain the same. The spiritual power of the 'fabric of your consciousness' will radiate outward and be absorbed by the people, plants, bricks and mortar in your immediate vicinity. There will be definitive changes and improvements in everything that is within your orbit. It is your destiny in this life – and in future lives – to reach this full and complete realization... When you do, you will set your foot on the path of self-mastery and then gradually advance to become a true master of your world of human consciousness interpenetrated and assisted by DIVINE CONSCIOUSNESS.

I, the CHRIST, entrust this LETTER to you. I have put you in full possession of some of the important facts of creation that will enable you to transcend the ego – the guardian of your individuality and return to the UNIVERSALITY of BEING, from which you have truly come.

You have in your hands the means by which you can enter Unconditional Love, Joy and Personal Realization. Remember that I have said that I long for the spiritual progress of the wayfarer. As you move forward along the path I have laid out for you, there will be moments of confirmation that I am truly with you on your journey. You will see them, keep your faith in them. At all times, I hold you in Divine Love, since I am Divine Love in action... Believe this and find rest in my Consciousness that surrounds you.
