

The great awakening of humanity dear brothers of planet Earth.

-Asthar Sheran.-

I'm Asthar Sheran. In this here and now I come with great joy and glory and to tell you that our troops inside your world are lined up for the great parade that we are all wanting and that, also, we are extremely happy for the next moments. Within the fifth dimension, for us, the next moment is the here and now, there is no linear time. In the here and now, all events happen very fast and for the fulfillment of a series of variants vibrate without the concept of the present or future past. We do not like dates, we prefer that everything happens surprisingly to accurately attract the impact at the time it has been planned. In this way the superficial actions are extremely satisfactory, the problems that are encountered are handled and resolved, so I can tell you that the new path of the fifth dimension is approaching, which many are imagining. In addition to our appearance and the emergence of more truths, you will be aware of the power of your souls and what you have done with it to lose it or to increase your vibrations. Each soul can choose to vibrate with love, equality, peace and harmony to walk quickly along the path of Ascension, however it has been very complicated to follow. In their ways, training to reach the fifth dimension will make them experience immense challenges since learning will be very fast. During this accelerated training, the souls of the third dimension should try to master this learning in order to cross the door that will allow them to see the other side. Some star seeds that are on the path of ascension, have already lived and overcome in their minds and hearts everything related to the third dimension. They have become evolved souls and are training to use this learning. Star seeds, which have been forgotten and returned to the third dimension, should look inside what they have learned. It will not be easy, but they can overcome all challenges and difficulties. Everyone should look deep inside, the wisdom that will allow them to overcome and overcome these challenges. I remind you that it will be up to you to help the souls that will begin the journey to the great awakening of humanity. The moments of expansion of consciousness will be very intense. Some will exacerbate them to the fullest. We can say that, unfortunately, he will unbalance and despair, but they will also experience moments of joy and happiness, however the sadness will be immense. As stellar seeds it is up to them to sustain and counteract all the negative energy that will be generated, to bring balance to the madness that will be lived intensely. I hold, affirm and confirm that, through your heart, you will be able to emanate and grow life with only the light of your love. With what you have stored, plus the energy of the planet and all galactic beings, you can emanate what will balance you, around you and the world. Unfortunately there are not enough of you, however you can counteract the emanations of the great majority. Together with us they will radiate much unconditional love for all the people on the planet. The moment of the great awakening will be one of great attention and inflection for all of us. This great wave, or whatever you want to call it, is very close and what will happen, only you will know at the moment it happens. However, the only concern you should have is to emanate a lot of light and love. Some wonder how they will do it just sit down and imagine that you are a pillar of light you are exactly like a pyramid. Turn on your pyramid and fill it with light the higher it is, the more powerful it will be at the moment everything happens. Allow those around you to absorb the emanations of your light from nothing will help them to withdraw. Purification will take place in each of those not awakened by themselves, they will understand their truths. By the way, it will not be you who will explain anything to you, we will be acting in the mind of every human being on this planet, so that you can completely absorb the light, therefore you only need to withdraw inside you to look at yourself exactly to perceive your point of light. Do not forget to work with your teachers, because they are always around you. They are the ones who will help you keep your column of light intact, your teachers will sustain you and protect you from the attacks you will receive, because the negative energy will still vibrate on the planet's surface. The no light will try to bring down the pillars of light that are not effectively protected and ready. Then, never forget to have the teachers around you at the moment this happens, since they are part of the main factor. Regarding those around you, wait until they call you, listen to them, without trying to explain anything, because they won't believe you immediately at that time, they could call you crazy and laugh. Over time they will understand and know that all you have told them is the truth. It will be the moment that they will notify you and end their pronouncement because you are very full of life and Love. You will not need to say anything, your simple presence will make you feel protected. You know we are always with you, don't fear. At any time feel to penetrate deeply into you, keep preparing and activating the protection of your surrounding teachers, because this is essential for you to stay sheltered. It doesn't matter, if you don't know who your teachers are just call them, because they are always with you and around you offering you protection. Dear ones, like your commander, this is my communication. Remember that on Earth you are our soldiers please do not forget what I transmitted to you, do not be afraid, just follow the orientation I brought you and prepare you for this great awakening of humanity that will occur at any time.

Thank you for listening or reading,

The Peace be with you

I am Asthar Sheeran (through the command to Asthar)
