Dear Masters.

We will strive to provide you with more information about the ascension process. It is important for you to understand that your physical vehicle was coded for the return to the kingdoms of light of greater vibration, from the beginning of your experience of earthly incarnation. In addition, as humanity evolves, it grows in wisdom and becomes more aware of the science and complexities of ascension. There have been many adjustments in the process during the last hundreds of years. Some initial ascension procedures have been ruled out and other more advanced requirements have been added. In the past, ascension was possible only for a chosen few. Only those who came to Earth to be examples and guides on the road and who were spiritually advanced could enter the inner sanctuaries of the Mysteries Schools. The secret doctrine was only given to those who considered themselves the strongest and most dedicated disciples. The lessons, tests and challenges were strenuous, and many died during the process, or did not achieve their goal for many lives. This has changed now, because the time for the ascension of the Earth and humanity to the next higher levels of consciousness is running out. Many divine dispensations and much assistance are being offered to those who strive to face the challenges and trials of ascension. The collective consciousness of humanity strives to recognize and overcome the extreme duality that permeates the Earth. Each and every person, at some level is fighting a battle to achieve self-awareness, which should include embracing both the side of light and the shadow of being, while striving to return to an accepted range of duality and polarity. Each of you must recognize and claim your dark side, your inner demons so that they can also embrace the light of transformation. Human suffering is the result of a rigid thought, a sense of superiority and of judging others, which leads to separation instead of unity and tolerance of opposing views. Can you accept the premise that your negative thinking ways are also seeking liberation? You are climbing to the surface of your consciousness, seeking enlightenment and truth, as you are. You must take responsibility for what you believe. Moment by moment, negative thoughts and actions result in distorted creations, discontent and chaos. We have explained that each soul, before embodying in a physical vehicle, receives an assignment of diamond particles of life for personal use throughout its life. If the assignment of a person is used with loving intention for the greatest good, then the flow of the full spectrum light of the Creator will continue throughout his life. However, when a person becomes without love, negative and bitter, access to the Sacred Heart and diamond particles of divine light are no longer available. From then on, you can only access the medium spectrum light, or the primary life force substance that can be re-qualified and used in a positive or negative way. Remember the diamond particles of the creator's light can only be activated and used with loving intention for the greatest good of all. The center of the heart of a small child is completely open and the particles of God flow freely, however, how long does the center of the heart remain open? It depends on the love and attention they receive from their parents and those around them. Many dear souls have placed an etheric shield of protection on the Center of their Heart, so that pain and suffering do not affect them so drastically, therefore closing the door to their sacred inner sanctuary, where they store their divine particles of creation along with the allocation of diamond particles that were placed in the Center of the sacred heart of each person, a smaller assignment was also placed inside each of each person. The main chakra Centers of the physical body. The largest portion was placed in the root chakra, which the ancients called Kundalini, the coiled fire snake or the sacred fire of the ascent. There is an accelerated planetary initiation now in progress and it is affecting the entire plane of the Earth, especially sensitive beings. There is much fear and fear as the collective consciousness of humanity undergoes dramatic changes, which occur at the end of an era and the beginning of a more advanced era, especially when much of what was considered of great importance in the earthly plane slowly disappears. The so-called Armageddon is part of the reality of the third and fourth dimensions, however its energy signature is of a higher and more balanced frequency. Not many of the disturbing energies of change will affect you personally. There is also a great sense of anticipation and emotion for those who have learned to remain centered on the Sacred Heart. There are many probable futures before each of you and it is important that you stay focused on the now. They may be taken to change course several times, as they slowly move towards the fluidity of the upper dimensions. However, if they allow their Sacred Heart and Higher Self to illuminate the Way, they will never be diverted. The timelines of the future lead to a higher and stable terrain far from the broad spectrum of duality and the illusion of separation. You are in the process of integrating the many fragments of the being you have created, while you were physically incarnated. This is a preparation for the fusion with the many facets of his soul family, both on Earth and within the many dimensions throughout the solar system and the galaxy and eventually throughout the universe. There must be a reunification with being and a return to its center of power, which resides within its Sacred Heart. Once you make the connection with your Higher Self and begin the process of meeting with all the facets of your divine being, the impulse to meet, becomes a magnetic force that cannot be denied. Your superior soul that is composed of the essence of the Creator is your guide and conscious companion, while you are in the physical vehicle. For a long time, the soul has been only a weak whisper for most people, since the personality of the ego desire was very strong and occupied a dominant position inside. The initiation process begins when you slowly step to the soul to assume its rightful place as director of your life. That, eventually allows the Higher Self to take charge of your trip back to the Kingdoms of Light. Gradually the narrow silver cord, which is his lifeline with the creator begins to widen until he finally reaches the width of the crown of his head. That is when you access the flow of your divine presence I am and the creative particles of love and life begin to flow through you, through the infinite sign of life. The exercise of binary sequencing or infinite breathing, through which breathing passes through the spinal bulb, the ascension chakra at the base of the skull, connects you with the soul of the earth and with the multiple kingdoms of light where the many facets of being reside, until you finally join your divine I am or be divine presence. The river of life has a multitude of tributaries throughout the universe. Many of you, as you access your sacred mind and learn to remain centered within the Sacred Heart, are becoming ducts for the diamond particles of the Creator's consciousness. First you must tune in to the pineal and pituitary glands with your higher being, which initiates the process of dissolving the light membranes that protect the sacred mind. Your sacred mind makes the connection with your sacred heart and once the diamond particles of God's conscience activated begin to flow from the sacred heart to the sacred mind, the enlightenment process accelerates. The creator's light flows through the crown chakra and enters the pineal gland by promoting cell consciousness as it activates the pituitary and hypothalamus glands and travels through the brain structure towards its sacred mind, then flows to the sacred heart where the particles of the creator's light are activated even more, through its loving intention. These particles of light of God activated now, are ready to help them create anything they want, as long as their intention is for the greatest good of all. The voice of his Higher Self becomes clearer and the shoves of his Sacred Heart, called intuition, becomes stronger. The question has been asked, what is the difference between intuition and inspiration? Intuition means understanding a concept or certain information immediately, without conscious reasoning. Your Higher Self speaks to you through your intuition and finally clears the way to your divine being and the wisdom stored in the cosmic records. His intuition also gives him signs through a feeling that something is right, or his truth, or a feeling of fear or discomfort when something is wrong, or is not aligned with the highest frequencies of light. Inspiration means the process or the quality of being inspired, such as when a sudden timely or unusual idea sometimes about something that was not conscious before appears in your mind. Channeling or messages from their guides and angelic masters often lead to inspired concepts or the awareness of things that are beyond the scope of their knowledge. Intuition is validated first through the mind and then through the heart, while inspiration is validated first through the heart and then through the processes of reasoning of the mind. Your perception of time and space is changing rapidly as you learn to concentrate more on the moment, instead of hesitating between the past and the future, with only moments of consciousness concentrated in the present. The feelings of separation isolation and judgment are being replaced by a sense of consciousness of unity, which will eventually lead to a sense of unity with all creation. There is no greater gift, once again, than to connect with the full spectrum of the creator's light so that you can magnetize the largest amount of diamond particles of light towards you. After taking what they need personally, they must share this gift by radiating love and the remaining light towards the world. Remember we have explained in the past that the third and fourth dimension are not bad or perverse. The frequency patterns of the divine pattern were distorted and became inharmonious due to the pendulum of light and shadow or if not too far from the center for many past ages. The ascension requires that each person heal the past in other words that eliminate the main vibratory, discordant, internal patterns so that their energy signature is once again in tune with at least the accepted levels of duality within the seven third and fourth dimensions sub-levels. The earthly souls that are waking up and that have consciously begun the journey of ascension are in the process of becoming superior beings of the fourth dimension, however the consciousness of many advanced souls, those we call stellar seeds, are in the process of accessing various levels of consciousness of the fifth dimension. They will keep their bodies of flesh, however their health will improve and their vitality and feeling of well-being will increase. The Earth will remain solid and the duality will continue to be present, however the spectrum of light and shadow will return to its original divine design. As the higher frequencies of light permeate the Earth, the structure of beliefs of mass consciousness will gradually return to more harmonious frequency patterns so that all dimensional levels of earthly consciousness can begin to incorporate the highest and most refined truths. Those who continue with their old patterns of negative and unbalanced thoughts will experience the effect of their choices much faster. Sometimes almost instantly. Believe it or not, there were some advantages in the withdrawal of a large part of your demonstration skills in the past. Remember, you were originally produced from the sacred heart of the core of the Supreme Creator, as a white fire seed atom, where the saying comes from: "Made image and likeness of God." The light of the supreme creator contains energy, intelligence and everything necessary to create endless worlds and to fulfill the many unique divine plans. You are being given the opportunity to become a co-creator of the highest level, however you should leave your comfort zone and claim your birthright. Follow the path of light. Beloved, the moment of the great meeting is at hand. You are deeply loved. I am the archangel Michael
