The Glory of the I Am

There is a huge amount of Ascension energy pouring onto the planet right now. This means that many of you will experience heightened states of consciousness, higher vibrational energies, and generally the ability to raise your personal vibration.

For years you have been training to be the Lightworker that you are. You have been preparing for this very moment. Now is the time to shine your light in the world and allow others to see it too. The journey of Ascension began. You are a Lightworker. You are opening a path from darkness to Light. You are a leader of humanity and it is time to lead. Gather all your courage, your strength, your faith, your self-confidence, because this journey is just beginning. You may not be able to see it yet, but you are surrounded by a benevolent army of light warriors. They have come to support you in your quest for Ascension. They are here for you and all they want is for you to succeed in this endeavor you have set out to do.

This is what happens when you shine: you attract other people who also want to shine. The more you shine your Light, unique in the world, the more people will do the same and when this happens, we create an upward spiral that inspires more and more people to shine their lights too. Now is the time to act and align with your true Self. Ascension means rising above the density of the third dimension, to transition into higher vibrations and states of consciousness. It's a hard thing to do at first, so it's important to honor yourself as you go through this process. You cannot fail, but if you do not believe it for yourself, then failure will be the only option available. Be strong in your resolve and remember that every step you take brings you closer to the life of your dreams. Every moment you are closer to freedom from all the pain and suffering that has plagued the human race since its beginnings on this planet. Your Light shines so brightly that it attracts other seekers who long for the same freedom as you and will follow your example into the Light.

You are not alone, although sometimes it seems like it. If you already know the difference between your soul and your spirit, then you are one step closer to understanding your purpose on earth.

As you navigate the path of Ascension, you will learn more and more about your divine gifts. Each gift is a piece of the puzzle, revealing your purpose on earth. To some, your gifts may be obvious. For others, it can take a lifetime to fully understand and develop.

When you awaken, you will be aware of these gifts that may have been hidden from your conscious mind for many years. You may discover them in an instant, or it may take some time for them to emerge. This doesn't mean they aren't there, it's just that you haven't discovered them yet. Although they remain dormant in your energy field, they are there waiting for you to awaken and harness their power. It all depends on where you are on the path of awakening and how fast you want to go.

Many of you live your lives as if every experience is a lesson or an opportunity for growth. Maybe it is, but the ultimate gift is your own awakening. When you have awakened, when you are in the flow of love and creativity, when you are free of beliefs and desires, then you will see that this life, however difficult it may be at times, is a gift. You will see that each new moment gives you the opportunity to choose joy, compassion and kindness and that every experience then becomes an opportunity for growth. You are much more than the sum total of your experiences. Everything that happens to you does not create who you are. Who you are is a mystery. It is the presence that animates your body and your mind. The consciousness that knows all things without exception. This consciousness does not change from one experience to another, it does not change due to loss or gain, it does not change at all, it simply is.

You are a gift to your family, friends, teachers and community. You are a gift to this world. Your unique presence and perspective are something no one else can fill.

Being yourself is what the world needs right now.

We love you so much. We are here with you.

We are your Family of Light.
